HULL ON WAY TO QUEBEC WAR PARLEY

TWO ISLANDS FALL AS ALLIES BLAST ITALY

Land Guns, Planes and Warships Give Mainland Terrific Pounding.

By The Associated Press

Allied headquarters announced today an American naval expedition had captured two stepping-stone islands aimed directly at the Italian mainland north of Sicily with the surrender of Lipari and Stromboli in the Tyrrhenian sea.

Stromboli island lies 50 miles north of the Sicilian port of Messina. Lipari is 35 miles above Messina. The tiny isles form the main part of the Aeolian group.

Meanwhile, a 24-hour storm of bombs and shellfire rocked axis defenders in southern Italy as the American 7th and British 8th Armies awaited the signal to leap from Sicily into Europe proper.

The call to action, it was believed, soon may be forthcoming from the war council of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill at Quebec where final plans were said to be developing to advance the zero hour for invasion.

Pound Southern Italy

"For 24 hours now, allied artillery, air forces and naval units have been plastering southern Italy in one of the most formidable combined attacks ever seen," declared radio France at Algiers, in a midday broadcast.

Simultaneously, King Vittorio Emanuele III told Sicilians in a proclamation broadcast by the Rome radio that the present isolation of allied-conquered Sicily from the rest of Italy "will not last for long."

The king made no mention of continued prosecution of the war, however, and may have been hinting at Italian overtures for peace.

Dispatches from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters said big shells hurtled steadily across the two-mile-wide strait of Messina between Sicily and the toe of the Italian boot as American and British field batteries slammed away at enemy fortifications, while 15-inch axis coastal guns replied with 2,400-pound projectiles.

Naval Activity Continues

"Naval activity continues on both coasts of the Calabrian peninsula (Italy's toe) and on the eastern shore of the straits of Messina," Gen. Eisenhower's command said.

Besides torrents of steel and explosives unleashed by allied land and sea batteries, waves of allied bombers concentrated their fire on enemy troops and guns hidden in the mountain along the Calabrian shore. Thirty-four enemy aircraft were shot down, it was announced.

Italian headquarters said fleets of allied four-engined bombers, heavily escorted, inflicted "very great damage" in raids on the mainland cities of Foggia and Salerno and also struck at targets along the Vesuvian Riviera. It said 44 allied planes were shot down by axis anti-aircraft batteries and "in very violent air duels."

Allied middle east headquarters said U. S. Liberators and RAF Halifaxes bombed the port of Crotone, on the arch of the Italian boot, and other United Nations airmen pounded the harbor of Heraklion in Crete.

Warships Pound Scalea

British cruisers and destroyers steaming up the west coast of the Calabrian peninsula Tuesday night bombarded Scalea, some 26 miles south of Cape Palinuro where the highway runs close to the sea.

Great concentrations of anti-aircraft fire encountered by attacking allied bombers and continued shelling from artillery posts indicated the axis still was strongly entrenched around Reggio Calabria in southern Italy.

There was every indication the enemy would fight to the last [illegible] to hold the extreme tip of the Italian peninsula against the allied armies massed along the [illegible] coast across Messina Strait.

Shells wailed steadily across the [illegible] axis 15-inch coastal rifles, [illegible] 2,400-pound objectives, [illegible] with American and British field batteries.

Japs Cling To Footholds As Allies Push Drive in Pacific

Yanks Take to Jungles To Clear Out Pockets of Resistance on Atolls and Islands Near Munda.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Aug. 20—Japan's supply line has been cut in the Solomons and sorely strained in New Guinea—the right and left flanks of the Allies' Pacific drive—but the resourceful enemy still has a precarious foothold on New Georgia and clings to Salamaua.

Reports in today's communique from both ends of the 750-mile battle arc emphasize clearly the jungle character of the Pacific war and the determination of the Japanese to make the most of the topography.

The communique told of American jungle troops in the Solomons going after pockets of enemy resistance Thursday on Atolls and islets only a mile or so west of the Munda airfield on New Georgia which was wrested from the Japanese Aug. 5. On Aug. 15, the Americans occupied Vella Lavella island, 45 miles northwest of Munda, and the communique announcing its capture pointedly explained that the Japanese sea supply line to both New Georgia and Kolombangara had been severed.

Despite that, the Japanese have remained on small isles near Munda, even shelling the field, making necessary the liquidation campaign which today's communique disclosed. They also are hanging on at Bairoko Harbor.

In the northeastern New Guinea fighting zone, the communique reported consolidation of American and Australian positions on ridges five miles southwest of Salamaua. That is within three miles of the airdrome, the primary objective.

Salamaua, an isthmus town which the Japanese have held since early in 1942, is in ruins, pounded by more than 1,000 tons of bombs within a month. Its garrison is supplied largely by barge, and today's communique, as have so many others, told of barges being blasted to bits by allied bombers in New Guinea and New Britain waters.

Depleted in air support by the wiping out of 215 planes at Wewak and haphazardly supplied and reenforced, the Japanese before Salamaua are fighting from ridge to ridge and yieldly slowly.

ICKES EXPECTED TO RELEASE FIVE MINES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—Secretary of the Interior Ickes has listed five non-struck coal mines in Ohio, West Virginia and Alabama for return to private ownership.

This first step toward ending government possession and operation of the mines was expected to be announced today by the office of war information. Pending the official announcement by OWI, Ickes' coal mine administration declined to identify the mines or comment on the action.

Ickes has operated some 3,700 of the nation's major mining properties since May 1, when the first of three general strikes by John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers was called.

ACCUSED GIRL WEEPS AT RITES FOR RELATIVES

Kisses Lips of Father, Brother She's Charged with Slaying.

By The Associated Press

COVINGTON, Ky., Aug. 20—Weeping bitterly, 16-year-old Jo Ann Kiger bent low over two caskets in a funeral home today and kissed the lifeless lips of her father and brother, in whose deaths she is charged with murder.

Carl C. Kiger, Covington's vice mayor and his son, Jerry, 6, were buried after requiem high mass intoned before a crowd which packed St. Aloysius church.

Jo Ann was taken to the funeral home from Boone county jail in nearby Burlington. She was supported by her two brothers in uniform, John, a seaman from Great Lakes, Ill., and Lt. Joseph W. Kiger, U. S. Marine Corps.

Kiger, with his son, was shot to death as he slept in his summer home early Tuesday. His wife, Mrs. Jenny Kiger, 49, is confined to a hospital with a hip wound incurred during the fusillade.

OHIO SOLDIER BABY FUND NEEDS GROW

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 20—Dr. R. H. Markwith, state health director, sent an emergency request to the children's bureau at Washington today for additional federal funds to finance the Ohio maternity care program for wives of non-commissioned service men.

A flood of applicants disclosed the program became operative just in time to finance a bumber crop of babies. About 100 applications are arriving a day.

Uncle Sam provided the state with an initial allocation of $20,000 to pay maternity bills for the balance of August.

"But," said Dr. Markwith, "we authorized maternity care for 171 qualified wives in two days—and each is a case in which the baby just arrived or is expected almost momentarily."

PROCLAIMS MARINE WEEK

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 20—Gov. John W. Bricker today proclaimed the period of Aug. 23-31 as Marine Week in Ohio to encourage enlistment in the women's branch of the U. S. Marine Corps.

Alexander Praises U. S. Soldiers in Sicily

By The Associated Press

FIFTEENTH ARMY GROUP HEADQUARTERS IN SICILY, Aug. 20—Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, commander of the Fifteenth Allied Army group, said today the swift conquest of northern Sicily by United States troops was "magnificent."

"I have never seen such remarkable military engineering accomplishments," he said.

Alexander disclosed that he had visited "those American friends of mine" during the fighting in the northern part of the island and observed engineering feats which "I would have never imagined possible."

ROUGH TERRAIN SLOWS DUAL SOVIET DRIVES

Russians Report Heavy Nazi Resistance at Bryansk and Kharkov Fronts.

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW, Aug. 20 — Difficult going in terrain naturally lending itself to defense was reported slowing down the Red army today as it pressed twin drives on the Nazi bastions of Bryansk and Kharkov.

Front line dispatches to the Soviet army organ Red Star reported Russian troops on the central front were encountering "considerable difficulties and enormous strain" as they battled their way through forests and swamps and across numerous small rivers toward Bryansk.

(The German communique, broadcast from Berlin and recorded by The Associated Press, said violent fighting flared along the Mius river front west of Rostov.

Belgorod Front

(Fighting raged without letup in the Belgorod front, the German bulletin asserted, adding that Red army attempts to effect breakthroughs at other sectors were frustrated. The communique said 486 Russian tanks and 81 planes were destroyed yesterday.)

On the Kharkov front in the Ukraine, some 240 miles south of Bryansk, Russian troops were said to be encountering stiff resistance in attempts to overcome German defenses based on hills forming a natural line around the city.

Action in this sector was sharpening in the face of mounting German counterattacks, while the Red army air force pounded heavily at bases in the enemy rear in an endeavor to cripple supply routes.

Force Clash Near Bryansk

A fierce battle was reported in one area of the front east of Bryansk. Fresh German battalions repeatedly were hurled into the fray but were unable to hold off the charging Red army, which methodically cleared one village after the other and threw the Nazis back to a new line, the Russians said.

The German air force was reported striking repeatedly but unsuccessfully at the Soviet communications lines.

Russian Stormoviks retaliated with a continuous bombardment of the German positions at Bryansk and farther west.

ITALIAN KING TRIES TO CONSOLE SICILY

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 20 — King Vittorio Emanuele told Sicilians in a proclamation broadcast by the Rome radio today that the present isolation of Sicily from the rest of Italy "will not last for long" and he made no mention of continued prosecution of the war.

The broadcast of the unbelligerent proclamation was recorded by The Associated Press.

The king opened his message by recalling that Premier Pietro Badoglio and former Premier Vittorio Emanuele Orlando previously had addressed the Italian people.

"I have lived with you this terrible moment," he continued. "I have heard your voice. I have understood your sufferings.

"Italians of Sicily, your king is near to you.

"I have faith in a better future. I know that you are faithful to me and to my reigning house. We are now cut off one from the other, but this will not last for long. The future will bring a reward for your sufferings."

Earlier, the Rome radio had accused the allies of indiscriminately bombing Italian towns and said no official reply had been received by the Badoglio government's recent action in declaring Rome an open city.

British Arrive To Help Plan Blows on Japan

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 — A British military mission containing officers of the land, sea and air services has arrived here for consultations regarded as laying the groundwork for future U. S.-British operations against Japan.

In announcing arrival of the mission, headed by Maj. Gen. J. S. Lethbridge of the Royal Engineers, the British information service said the British government "does not consider it premature to formulate plans for its future operations against Japan in concert with the United States and other members of the British commonwealth when their full combined forces can be brought to bear against the common enemy in the Pacific."

War Summary

Italian Area—Allies pound mainland with planes, warships and land batteries, two islands captured.

Russia — Germans counterattack fiercely in battle for Kharkov, but Red armies gain.

Air War — RAF Mosquito bombers hit Berlin; U. S. Fortresses hit four German air bases.

Solomon Islands — Over 1,000 Japanese troops reported killed or drowned in vain attempt to recapture Vella Lavella island.

New Guinea — Allied forces only three miles from Salamaua airdrome.

BERLIN AGAIN HIT BY BOMBS

Night Raid by British Follows Day Attacks on 4 Targets in Holland, France.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 20—Fast British Mosquito Bombers again attacked targets in Berlin last night while fighters struck at airfields and railway targets on the continent, it was announced today.

The night raids followed blows by allied planes, including American Flying Fortresses, at four of Germany's most important air bases in Holland and France yesterday. A joint British-American communique disclosed 30 enemy aircraft were shot down yesterday.

Intruders last night attacked railway and airfield targets in France and Belgium.

Vlissingen (Flushing) and Gilze-Rijen in Holland were battered by American Flying Fortresses late yesterday afternoon and 34 enemy fighters were shot down by the big bombers and their escorts of U. S. and allied Thunderbolts and Spitfires, the communique said.

Shoot Down 16 Enemy Planes

The Fortresses accounted for 16 enemy fighters and their escorts knocked down 18, the bulletin declared. Good bombing results were reported on both targets.

Four bombers and two fighters were lost in these raids, but the pilot of one was saved.

U. S. Marauders and RAF Mitchells earlier in the day had blasted Nazi airfields at Poix and Amiens-Glissy in France. The Americans spearheaded the thrusts, with the British planes following with a second pounding of the airfields at Poix.

Typhoons and Spitfires of the RAF joined in later and together they knocked down 15 German fighters while the Marauders got one. Six allied fighters were reported lost.

The wide scope of the raids kept American, British, Dominion and allied airmen shuttling over the English channel practically all day, one of the busiest in recent weeks.

Take Fighter Toll

Belated reports on the July 17 raid by American Flying Fortresses on the ball-bearing works at Schweinfurt, Germany indicated big bombers had shot down at least 95 enemy fighters.

PASSENGER STEAMER DISABLED ON LAKE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 20 — The passenger steamer Eastern States, bound from Detroit to Buffalo with approximately 500 passengers and crew, today was disabled by engine trouble about 45 miles northeast of Cleveland harbor.

The Great Lakes Towing Co said the tugs California and Louisiana had been sent to the aid of the lake steamer, operated by the Detroit & Cleveland Navigation Co. The vessel will be towed into Cleveland, arriving late today.

James McMillin, D. & C. general manager, said at Detroit a broken crank pin bolt caused the engine trouble.

"There's is no cause for anxiety," he added. "It's just like changing a tire on your automobile."

Job Status To Be Key When Draft of Fathers Starts

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—War manpower commission spokesmen today saw a "strong possibility" the only pre-Pearl Harbor fathers to face induction under the October draft quota of about 312,000 would be those in non-deferable jobs.

They repeated, however, that there had been no change in plans to begin on Oct. 1 the induction of the pre-war father class—those whose children were born before last Sept. 15.

The officials said they had absolutely no confirmation of rumors that there would be any reduction in the previously announced goal of 10,800,000 men and women in the armed forces by the end of 1943. Instead, they said, in view of figures released this week by Navy Secretary Knox who estimated the Navy, Coast Guard and Marines would have 2,801,000 in uniform by Jan. 1, while the Army has set its sights on 8,200,000.

Chairman Fulmer (D-S.C.) of the house agriculture committee, predicting a serious food shortage this winter, announced today he would seek a compulsory "furlough of farm labor out of the Army in the harvest season."

Declaring that "tons and tons of food will not be harvested if we don't get labor to the farms," Fulmer said that "despite all the orders that have been publicized, they are still drafting farm labor, while thousands of bushels of vegetables are rotting on the ground."

BLAME CURIOSITY OF BOYS FOR FATAL DERAILMENT

Youths Tell of Piling Stones on Railroad Tracks.

By The Associated Press

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug. 20—The curiosity of three small boys, two of them five years old and one six, was blamed today for the derailment here yesterday of the New York Central's Wolverine passenger train and the death of its fireman, John R. McCarty, 56, of Jackson, Mich.

Police Inspector Albert F. Scheiern said he was convinced the wreck was caused by stones the boys told him they placed on the tracks "to see what would happen."

Scheiern released the boys to their parents after they related, he said, how they placed stones over about 10 feet of tracks near a siding switch. He said they waited for the train to pass but got tired and had gone home when derailment occurred. Police said there would be no action against them.

The locomotive and four of six cars of the train jumped the tracks.

8 FEARED DEAD IN N. J. BLAST

Linoleum Products Plant Explosion Buries Victims in Mass of Ruins.

By The Associated Press

KEARNY, N. J., Aug. 20—A mass of rubble hid the fate today of at least eight persons believed buried in the ruins of a three-story brick and concrete building at the Congoleum-Nairn, Inc., plant after an explosion and fire which left three dead and 10 others injured, eight critically.

Fire Chief Charles Burnett of Newark said steam shovels would be used in the search of the blackened, smoking heaps of debris.

The blast late yesterday afternoon rocked a 10-mile area in the heart of war-busy northern New Jersey and broke windows in homes and stores within a mile radius of the sprawling Linoleum products plant on the banks of the Passaic river.

Fire which sprouted out from the blasted No. 12 building wrecked two other structures before the flames were brought under control last night.

"The building just blew skyward in a cloud of wreckage and then fell back to the earth in pieces," was one worker's description of the blast.

A spokesman for the company said a check of workers' homes showed eight persons missing but other sources indicated the toll might rise much higher.

Firemen and rescue workers expressed the belief that some workers from other buildings, such as messengers or freight truckers, might have been in the building.

Fire Chief Burnett said the explosion was caused by dust from cork and linoleum. He described the force of the blast as "more terrific than dynamite."

TWO POLISH ARMIES AWAIT INVASION CALL

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 20—Two tough Polish armies bearing equipment supplied by the United States and Britain and containing powerful artillery and parachute units are set to spring against the axis in Europe when the signal for the allied invasion is given.

The Polish government-in-exile here, disclosing the existence of these forces yesterday, said their nucleus was formed by survivors of the Polish army which nearly was wiped out when the Nazis stormed through Poland in September, 1939, and the Poles lost 902,095 men in killed, wounded and missing.

Lieut.-Gen. Wladyslaw Anders, 51-year-old hero of the battle of Poland, who was wounded three times, is in command of one army of some 80,000 men based in the middle east. The other force, with undisclosed thousands of men, is stationed in Britain.

PREPARES TO MEET TONIGHT WITH LEADERS

Powerful New Blows at Japs Hinted in Announcement by Bracken.

By The Associated Press

QUEBEC, Aug. 20—The imminent arrival this afternoon of Secretary of State Cordell Hull pointed up today the political angles of the Quebec war council and speculation that a conference emissary might go to Moscow.

Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, who has been here several days, has been mentioned frequently as a likely messenger to carry word of the results of the Quebec meeting to the Soviet capital.

Hull and Eden will dine tonight with President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill of Britain, but the absence of Russian representation in Quebec indicated that decisions which would seal the political future of post-war Europe were unlikely.

While the President and Churchill toiled in the Quebec Citadel over their war maps and strategy plan, presidential Secretary Stephen Early told reporters that when the President leaves here early next week and goes to Ottawa, the Canadian capital, he will not return later to this conference city.

Speech Plans Uncertain

Asked whether Mr. Roosevelt would make a speech in Ottawa, early said arrangements were not complete.

The war committee of the Canadian cabinet met this morning in Ottawa, and may return to Quebec for another session.

There was a strong, official indication that tremendous new operations against Japan as well as German-occupied Europe were in the making.

Brendan Bracken, British minister of information, was the first high participant in the war councils to give any inkling of what was going on behind the guarded portals of Quebec's citadel, where President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill are mapping strategy which may settle the fate of the world.

"These plans," Bracken told a press conference last night, "are to bomb and burn and ruthlessly destroy, in every way available to us, the people responsible for creating this war."

His words were sufficiently inclusive to embrace not only the foe in Europe but also Japan, and he underscored them by declaring that "it's all one war."

Says War Going Well

"I think the war is going very well indeed," the British cabinet member asserted, "but it will last a long time and be a very hard war.

"When we have rounded up Mr. Hitler, the whole might of the British empire will be given over to the task of dealing with the Japanese, who are a ruthless, savage people.

"We will not lay down our arms until we have completely conquered Japan. The war won't be over until Japan has reaped the price of her treachery.

"Every ounce of strength we've got we intend to use against Japan."

He gave a hint, too, that the strength probably would be brought to bear, at the times and places dictated by high allied strategy now in the making, by death dealing sea and sky fleets.

"As you know," he said, "we have good sailors and accomplished bombers."

Europe Problem New

Nevertheless, whatever may be the battle plans for the Pacific, events in Europe, where Russia continues to grind down German opposition in the east, dictate that the allied high command center its urgent attention on taking the utmost advantage of that situation to drain off Nazi strength through amphibious assaults in the west.

Of the master plan for global war now being evolved in the secret deliberations here on the bluffs of the St. Lawrence, Bracken disclosed no details.

The red-haired minister, speaking dramatically and tumbling out his words, did declare that the President and prime minister were the architects of decisions of "vital importance."

Won't Announce Plans

He said no important announcements need be anticipated before—or after—a press conference which the principals are expected to hold when their conference ends.

The eminent, respectable, but ruthless gentlemen at the Citadel, Bracken said, are not going to show their hands to the enemy, but the time will come when "Hitler and Tojo and their tribe of gangsters" will get the news from the generals, admirals and air marshals who command "fierce fighting forces."

And, he added, passing a bou-

Cooperation is the first essential for a happy life in the army. We learn on the double that it does no good to have our own bed pulled tight, unless everyone's bed is just as tight and proper. Get Message From War Prisoner Son

News of their son by way of a German broadcast received by stations in this country has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hogan of 561 North Main street, recently. The son, Owen Hogan, has been a prisoner of war since early in the year, first in Italy and now in Germany. To date Mr. and Mrs. Hogan have received six cards from New Jersey and other points on the east coast relaying their son's message telling of his being a prisoner of war in Germany "but don't worry," the message continues. "Will write and tell my destination. Tell dad not to worry. Love." The message requested that the parents write and tell whether they receive the news via a German broadcast.

Hogan was reported missing in action in the North African area Feb 17. He joined the armed forces Oct. 21, 1941, and was at Camp Wheeler, Ga., later going to Fort Dix, N. J., then to Ireland, Scotland and England. He went into North Africa with one of the first invasion units.

MISS EMMA WEHRLE TAKES KENTON POST

Replaced at Smith Clinic by Columbus Woman.

Miss Jeannette Saddle of Columbus has joined the staff at the Frederick C. Smith clinic as technician, succeeding Miss Emma Wehrle who has accepted a position as laboratory and X-ray technician in McKitrick and Antonio hospitals at Kenton. Miss Saddle, who is making her home at 205½ South High street, was technician at St. Francis hospital in Columbus before coming to Marion.

Miss Wehrle, whose home is at 967 East Church street, has been on the staff at the clinic here for the last 18 years. A native of Switzerland, she received her early training in the "Academy of the Young Ladies" at Geneva, studied in the University of Germany, and the University of Frankfurt-am-Main, Germany. She taught in the University of Frankfurt until coming to the United States in 1925. She became an American citizen in 1931. Since coming to Marion Miss Wehrle, who is a pianist and teacher, has been active in music circles.

$150 Building Pledge Voted by Church Society

When the Onward Bible class of the Oakland Evangelical church held its first meeting of the season last night at the home of Mrs. A. E. During the social hour, Misses Gloria and Norma Jean Kehrwecker, who were guests, sang two duets. Mrs. J. R. Dallas talked on "The Widening Horizon," and Mrs. S. Hecker gave two readings. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Charles Williams on the Smeltzer road.

Iowan Asks for Ohio Presidential Papers

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 20—Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel said today he had received a request from George J. Callahan of Ames, Ia., for "proper application papers for filing for president of the United States" as the first step in contesting for Ohio's delegation at the 1944 national Republican convention.

Hummel said the request was the first received for next year's campaign.

Gov. John W. Bricker is regarded in political quarters as a potential presidential candidate.

Wendell L. Willkie, 1940 Republican nominee, recently implied during a Cleveland interview he might contest for Ohio delegates but he has announced no definite commitment.

NEW SUBSIDY PLAN READY

Expected To Be in Operation by Time Congress Returns; Details Secret.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—[illegible] predicted today the administration's new cost of living subsidy plan would be in operation before congress returns next month but it will be necessary for the lawmakers to provide the wherewithal.

Because existing subsidies were spared the congressional ax only through a presidential veto, the expectation had grown that the administration would sidestep further subsidies without an okay by congress.

However, since James F. Byrnes, director of war mobilization, has promised a substantial cut in the cost of living, other officials let it be known a new subsidy plan was about to be unveiled.

While details are highly secret, it is estimated the cost to the government will range from $300,000,000 to over $1,000,000,000. Apparently, the present meat and butter subsidies will continue on their present 10 per cent basis. The new program is expected to deal largely with vegetables. Potatoes, for instance, seem a likely candidate for government-financed price reduction.

One official who should know suggested the new program "will contain a little of everything," meaning direct subsidies, government purchases and resale-at-loss operations, and other devices.

The idea is for the government to buy all or nearly all of a crop at a handsome price, to encourage maximum farm production, and then to resell it to the trade at a price that won't break the consumer's back.

By buying the whole crop, it is also believed the government would be able to eliminate black markets.

Woman Named To Husband's Health Job in Morrow Co.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Aug. 20—Mrs. Marian Pierce McClanahan, wife of James L. McClanahan, will succeed him as Morrow county sanitarian when he leaves Monday for the U. S. Navy, Dr. F. M. Hartsook, county health commissioner, announced Thursday.

Appointment of Mrs. Clanahan for a probationatay period was made by Dr. R. H. Markwith, state health director. On successful completion of the probationary period, she will be eligible for a permanent appointment.

Mr. McClanathan, a graduate of Ohio university, Athens, has been sanitarian in Morrow county since Sept 1, 1940. Mrs. McClanahan, also a graduate of Ohio university, was employed with the department of welfare in Columbus prior to her marriage.

Whale of a Story, and Maybe True

By The Associated Press

BURLINGTON, Wis., Aug. 20.—At last it has happened—O. C. Hulett, boss prevaricator of the Burlington's Liars' club, has a yarn he would like to enter in the 1943 lying contest but is reluctant because he thinks it might be true.

"I got the story in a letter from Flying Officer Ralph W. Ritchie, stationed in the middle east with an RAF squadron," Hulett reported. "Ritchie says he is an American, born at Ottumwa, Ia., and is trying to transfer to the American air forces.

"Ritchie says his story is more true than he cares to state. If it is true, this is the first time I ever was kidded with a bona fide tale. But it could be the oddest thing that has come out of this war."

Ritchie's story:

"My plane was badly holed during a recent operational flight. I had to fly low over the sea—only had one motor working. Two hours later I sighted what appeared to be an enemy submarine. I decided to shoot it up, so I went down to within five feet of the water.

"Just as I approached I noticed it was a whale and I had to laugh as my front gunner was blazing away. But I didn't laugh long.

"As I passed over the whale, he blew and the water he spouted drowned out my remaining motor and I had to land in the sea—the only pilot in this war, I think to be shot down by a whale."

Miss Stump, Lt. Davis Married at Crestline

Special to The Star

CRESTLINE, Aug. 20—Thursday morning in St. Joseph's Catholic church Miss Mary Rita Stump, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Stump, became the bride of Lt. William Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Davis. Rev. F. A. Slattery performed the ceremony.

Sees Aerial Freight Trains

By The Associated Press

IOWA CITY, Ia., Aug. 20. — Coast-to-coast, non-stop aerial freight trains, which will switch their cargo in the sky as railroads now shift boxcars, were predicted for the postwar period today by Roy A. Watkins, Chicago aircraft company executive.

The freight trains that fly will create an entirely new marketing system for large farmers, ranchers and plantation operators, Watkins said in a prepared address.

Watkins, executive vice president and general manager of the Howard Aircraft Corporation, said nearly every farmer, "if he grasps his opportunities," could own or lease one or more air-freight fuselages—bodies without wings.

"On short notice," Watkins continued, "he will be able to load tons of the products of the land. A helicopter will pick up his fuselage and carry it to an airport. Wings will be bolted in place by ground crews and the fuselage will become a freight glider.

"Coming out of the sky will be an aerial freight train. The farmer's glider will be pulled into motion by an aerial switcher, taken aloft, and will be able to glide into position behind the aerial freight train.

"Such freight trains may cross the country without a stop, circling airports and cutting out or taking in gliders at will by means of devices which are already available."

Watkins declared this picture was "absolutely within the realm of possibilities the moment our peace policies have been settled."

RESTORES OLD ANTI-FREEZE

By The United Press

WILMINGTON, Del.—With the revelation that automotive engineers have learned some types of anti-freeze lose rust - inhibiting properties after extended use, a spokesman for the du Pont company has described a new chemical inhibitor for reconditioning old anti-freeze solutions. The compound was developed last year for the Army but, by WPB request, has been made available to civilians. When added to old anti-freeze, it was explained, the material neutralizes acid and restores rust resistance.

WANT TO GIVE UP "DOSING" FOR GOOD?

Try This Natural "Regulator" Food!

Don't lose hope, even if you've tried one harsh pill or cathartic after another, with no lasting relief! For many people there is a safe, pleasant way! One that doesn't prod your bowels—rob your system of water—or "sweep you out"! It's KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN!

The secret, scientists say, is that KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN "gets at" one big cause of common constipation—by supplying the cellulosic elements needed for normal evacuation—should they be lacking in the diet. These elements assist the intestinal flora in lightening and fluffing up the contents of the colon, for easy, satisfactory elimination!

Eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if you, too, don't give up "dosing" — for good! Remember, too—ALL-BRAN is amazingly nutritious! Each ounce contains more iron than two eggs, more phosphorus than a glass of milk! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

"Hold Firm, We'll Help You"—Stalin

CHAPTER 17

A GREAT people, or a strong system, is one that can undergo such a test, as the battle of Moscow, know the danger and rise above it. That, Moscow did. Its nerves were steadied by a supreme display of calmness and confidence on the part of its leaders. On November 7, they went through the ritual observance of the twenty-fourth anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution almost under the eyes of the Germans.

On the eve of the anniversary, the Moscow Soviet called its traditional meeting. The Mayakovsky subway station, instead of the Bolshoi Theater, was the scene of the meeting. But the important thing was that it was held, and that Stalin spoke.

The next morning, the Red army paraded on Red Square. Again it was not a foolhardy display. Just as the Moscow Soviet had gone underground for its meeting, so the Red army went through Red Square in thirteen minutes, starting at 8 a. m., three hours before the regular time. But it did hold its parade.

Stalin stood atop Lenin's tomb, muffled to the throat in his long, unadorned greatcoat and wearing his khaki kepi with the little five-pointed red star and the gold-crossed hammer and sickle above the brim. He spoke quietly into a microphone that carried his voice to the amplifiers on the Kremlin wall and sent it reverbrating across Red Square.

'It is in strenuous circumstances that we are today celebrating the twenty-fourth anniversary of the October Revolution. The perfidious attack of the German brigands and the war which has been forced upon us have placed our country in jeopardy,' he said. 'We have temporarily lost a number of regions, the enemy has appeared at the gates of Leningrad and Moscow.'

No more did he mention the battle of Moscow. Instead, he went on to point out that the Soviet Union had been in even greater difficulty before, in 1918, when three-quarters of the country was occupied, the Russians had no allies, no army, and faced a shortage of food, clothing, and arms, yet emerged victorious. Now, he said, the Soviet position was far better, with the country richer, supported by allies, and defended by a strong army.

HERE Stalin, the military genius, made one of his few military miscalculations. Before Russia was invaded, he had overestimated the power of the Balkans to form a front against Germany. Now, he underestimated the power of the Germans to carry on the war.

'The enemy is not so strong as some frightened little intellectuals imagine,' he said. 'The devil is not so terrible as he is painted. Another few months, another half year, perhaps another brief year, and Hitler Germany is bound to burst beneath the weight of its crimes.'

There, Stalin was wrong. A year later, the Germans were to be laying siege to Stalingrad. But they were defeated before Moscow, and Stalin's confidence was an important factor in that defeat.

Nine days later, the battle was on again. The Germans started their second general offensive against Moscow November 15. The great armies collided, the plan and counter-plan started working.

The Germans struck their first blow on the Russian right flank. The third and fourth tank armies attacked in the Volokolamsk sector and farther north toward the Moscow Sea, the artificial body of water forming part of the Moscow-Volga canal system forty miles north of the capital. The panzer divisions drove the Russians behind the Volga, north of the Moscow Sea, and covered their own left flank under this great lake.

Then the offensive spread southward. Part of the German left wing descended on Moscow through Klin, Solnechnogorsk, and Istra, part carried out the encircling maneuver through Yakhroma and Dmitrov toward Zagorsk.

The Germans hit the Russian left flank November 18, when the second tank army attacked southeast of Tula toward Kashira and Riazan. Part of this force pushed up toward Moscow, cutting the Tula-Serpukhov highway, reaching Venev and approaching Kashira; part struck through Stalinogorsk and Mikhailov toward Riazan and Kolomna, to complete the encirclement.

In the center the Germans broke through in the Narofominsk sector, penetrating the Russian defense twelve to fifteen miles, carrying their advanced forces within twenty-five miles of the capital.

SO far the German plan seemed to be succeeding. But the Russian plan also was in full operation. It called, in the first phase, for a stubborn defense. What this meant was exemplified on November 16, the first day of the German offensive, in the Volokolamsk sector, by one of the grandest acts of heroism of the war.

Major-General I. V. Panfilov, a dapper little fellow who had been military commissar of the middle-Asiatic Khirgiz Republic, defended the Volokolamsk-Moscow highway with the 316th Red army infantry division, later to become the 8th Guards infantry division. General Panfilov died in the field. Twenty-eight of his troops, isolated at one point, died in their trenches. But they exacted, as the price of their lives, eighteen enemy tanks. And they checked the Germans.

The four Moscow Communist divisions went into action in the first lines. They had had little training, there were not enough automatic guns to go around, but they sacrificed their bodies to the defense. Their losses were horrible, but their resistance was strong. In sheer desperation, they delayed the Germans, while in the rear and on the flanks, other forces were gathering.

Those were bright days for the Germans. They had estimated the maximum strength of the Red army at three hundred and thirty divisions. They had counted that number, they thought, in defeat. Now, before them appeared a few ragged new divisions of hastily mobilized workers, fighting with the spirit of demons but without the arms, training, or experience of reguar troops. The Germans thought the end was in sight. Berlin editors were advised, December 2, to leave space on their front pages to announce the fall of Moscow.

During the first week of December, the Germans reached their farthest points of advance, cutting the Moscow-Volga canal to the north at Dimitrov, spreading south through Istra, Zvenigorod, and Narofominsk and looping around Tula, north almost to Kashira and east to Mikhailov and Yerifan. The nearest they came to Moscow was the outskirts of the little Moscow-Volga canal port Khimki, five miles north of Moscow, connected with the capital by a commuters' bus line.

STALIN, at that moment of crisis was in personal command of the defense. Lieutenant-General K. K. Rokossovsky, hard-pressed in the Istra Lakes sector, received a telephone call: 'Stalin speaking. Report your situation.' The general outlined his position. 'Hold firm, we'll help you,' was the answer. Major-General P. A. Belov, moving into position in the Kashira sector, was called to the telephone, told by the same voice to liquidate the enemy breakthrough at Venez. Other generals, all along the front, had similar experiences.

In the meantime, regularly, as often as every quarter of an hour, trains were passing along railway lines to the front, carrying fresh young troops, dressed in warm winter uniforms and armed to the teeth with modern automatic weapons.

Inside and outside the German armored claws, these reserves stiffened the Russian resistance. The Germans began to scratch vainly for ground. Their left arm was pinned down on the Moscow-Volga canal. Their center was blocked east of Narofominsk. Their right arm was stopped before Kashira. They dangled awkwardly, in danger. The Russians' hour to strike, with their full force, had come.

The Red army launched its counter-offensive on December 6. By December 11, it had achieved these results:

The German flanks were broken, their center rolled back, their campaign ruined. They started their retreat.

In the battle of Moscow, from November 16 to December 10, the Soviet high command estimated the Red army killed more than 85,000 Germans, captured or destroyed 1,434 tanks, 5,416 vehicles, 575 field guns, 339 mortars, and 870 machine guns.

The Germans were caught in a trap of their own making. They had made a mistake they were to repeat a year later at Stalingrad. The Allies had often been criticized for doing 'too little, too late.' The Germans undertook 'too much, too soon.'

Moscow was saved.

Once Nazi Prisoner, Woman Leads Unit Back To Europe

FLORENCE CONRAD

• • •

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Features Writer

NEW YORK—Florence Conrad is ready to leave for Africa and points north to head a group of crack women ambulance drivers attached to the French Army.

The group will drive American gift ambulances and will be known as the Rochambeau Unit. Mrs. Conrad, who has spent the last two years in New York, will be its Field Director.

"Our duties will be evacuating wounded or sick civilians according to the needs of the time," she told me. "If we are sent to the firing line to transport soldiers, we'll do it."

Firing line talk coming from Mrs. Conrad is no hot air. She spent some months on the French firing line in 1940. She ran six canteens at the French front, served as an ambulance driver during the Battle of France, was decorated with the Croix de Guerre, cited five times for bravery and captured by the Germans. Florence Conrad may well emerge from the present conflict with a war record matched in kind by no other woman.

Gift From America

When we were discussing her new assignment, she said:

"The French Military Mission is sending the ambulance group to Africa. The twenty ambulances are really a gift from the American people. The money to pay for them came on request, from the American National War Fund. One of the War Fund's participants, you know, is the French Relief Fund, whose members include the Fighting French and the Coordinating Council of French Relief Societies.

"The French Military Mission also selected and trained here twenty French women drivers. Two more women drivers for each car will be selected in Africa. I report to French general headquarters in Algiers and our unit will be attached to the French Army."

Florence Conrad, who is a widow and a grandmother, stands for the new type of women produced by the twentieth century. She wears her civilian clothes like a French marquise and her wartime driving gloves with equal ease. She is as hard to scare as an army sergeant and said to be cool as an ice pack under fire.

Born in Chicago

Although she is Chicago born, she grew up in Paris and spent all of her adult life there. During the first World war she was head nurse attached to four different French hospitals—one of them a tent hospital at the front. When the second World war broke out in 1939 she organized the only group of private canteens in the war zone and ran six on the Maginot Line.

When the fighting started Mrs. Conrad was in the thick of the fray. She used her cars as ambulances and (attached to the 36th Division at her request) shuttled the wounded from the firing line to field hospitals. She drove for days without sleep in the ceaseless din of bombardment and was often under fire. Her car was shot full of holes, but she escaped unhurt. When the 36th joined in the terrible retreat she went with them, evacuating wounded. She was caught four times and escaped, but was finally captured when the 36th was surrounded, and was placed in a prison camp at Luneville with 50,000 men. Eventually she talked her way out and drove back to Paris.

Major F. J. Hunter and Menjou in Stars and Stripes.

A copy of The Stars and Stripes received this week by Dr. and Mrs. F. J. Hunter of 292 East Center street contains a picture of their son, Major Fred J. Hunter and motion picture star Adolphe Menjou exchanging signatures on their "short-snorters" bills at a base in England. Dr. Hunter, a practicing ear, nose, throat and plastic surgery specialist in New York City, is with an Army medical detachment in England. He and the motion picture actor became friends when the latter was stricken with a throat infection while on tour and was treated by Dr. Hunter in the hospital.

Menjou, now on tour of U. S. camps in the ETO with USO Camp Shows, Inc., has the signature of Hermann Goering on a 10 mark bill which he acquired from a colonel who received it from a captured German officer. The bills are membership cards for the organization of which anyone who has flown any ocean can become a member. If any member is caught without his bill he must pay $1 to every "short-snorter" present.

"Back A Boy" Program at Y Helps Many Deserving Lads

One of the most democratic and beneficial, yet least heard of phases of Y.M.C.A. work for the past several years has been the "Back a Boy" program, which this year is at last taking its place alongside the most successful undertakings sponsored by the Y.

This program is designed to provide deserving Marion boys, who otherwise could not afford a membership in the Y.M.C.A., with an opportunity to participate in all Y athletic, social and spiritual activities as a full-fledged member.

The program would not be the success that it is if it weren't for the whole-hearted cooperation of some Marion citizens.

At present 31 local boys are being backed with full Y.M.C.A. memberships by 26 Marion men and women.

The cost to back a boy in the Y.M.C.A. is $12 a year. This amount also provides the backer with a full Y.M.C.A. social membership. The regular membership charge for a person under 18 is $5, while an adult membership costs $7.

Boys Y Aids

The following three types of boys are especially desired by Y.M.C.A. officials to be backed: boys from large families, boys whose fathers are dead and whose mothers are their sole support and boys from families in the low-income bracket.

Among the boys now members of the Y and backed by Marion business men is a lad whose father is losing his eye sight and subsequently is not capable of earning an income on which to support the boy and three other children. One boy is a member of a family of 12 children while others come from families with eight and ten children.

Aside from extending the benefits of the Y.M.C.A. to deserving boys, some of whom never previously saw the inside of a Y, the "Back a Boy" campaign aims at furthering the interest of local adults in the welfare of children.

Earl N. Hale, executive secretary of the Y, believes that many permanent friendships have been welded through the "Back a Boy" program in the past and that many more undoubtedly will result from an expected increase of public interest in the program.

A. W. Kette, membership chairman of the Y.M.C.A. board of directors and supervisor of the "Back a Boy" movement is of the opinion that the backed boys get more out of their donated memberships if they do some work around the Y building as a symbol of their gratitude. Consequently, for the past few years of the program, backed boys have been put to work doing odd jobs around the Y.M.C.A., some of them of minor importance but nevertheless serving as a character-builder of the boy, Y.M.C.A. leaders state.

Usually the boys work about 25 hours before they become free to take part in any activity, Mr. Kette says.

The odd tasks performed by the boys about the Y building on South State street are sundry but here are a few of the more common ones: cleaning, arranging rooms, supervising lockers in the basement, and checking articles and clothing.

List On File At Y

Included in the Y.M.C.A. membership files is a list of deserving Marion boys who are leading prospects for backing by local men. However, any Marion resident is free to suggest the name of any worthy boy to the Y. In the past, principals of the Marion public schools, Miss Vivian Hall of the Aid for Dependent children, and Juvenile Judge Oscar Gast have been especially helpful in compiling the steadily growing list of worthy boys.

Backers of boys for Y memberships are not required to stop payment of membership for their beneficiaries after one year's payment has been completed. On the contrary, Mr. Hale emphasizes that some persons have paid for memberships over a several-year period.

The "Back a Boy" movement is not merely a local project, Mr. Hale says. It is followed on a nationwide scale. The "Back a Boy" idea was originated and fostered in Cleveland Y.M.C.A.'s over ten years ago, Mr. Hale said. In the past decade the novel idea has caught fire throughout the nation's Y's and is now a permanent fixture in practically every Y association.

Several formerly backed boys now are serving in the nation's armed forces and from latest reports are making excellent showings.

One boy, who has been in the Navy over a year and a half, recently returned to Marion and told former Y men that the part of his life spent in the Y.M.C.A. was in no small way responsible for his success in the service of Uncle Sam. He was at one time [illegible] and was backed by a Marion business man.

Another serviceman, a member of the Army Air forces, who was once backed for a Y.M.C.A. membership, is a "shining example" of a product of the "Back a Boy" program, Y officials state.

He felt a gratitude so deep to the Y and Marion citizens who paid for his membership, Y officials said that on his [illegible] in Marion, he offered to back a boy himself.

Most of the donors of memberships are business men, Mr. Hale explains, although a few women have backed boys.

Practically all men who are asked to pay the membership for a deserving Marion boy respond in the affirmative in no uncertain terms. Most of the men leave the selection of the boy to be backed up to the Y.M.C.A. but [illegible] they have in mind a [illegible] they especially [illegible].

One prominent local man who [illegible] in favor of the "Back a Boy" idea exceeded all expectations of Y officials. In addition to backing three boys for the [illegible] a year, he also donated to the Y a $25 war bond, to be used as [illegible] for future memberships of deserving boys.

Food can be our most powerful weapon of the war . . . but to make it so, we've got to understand the "why's" and "how's". Here are food facts confirmed . . . food fiction exposed . . . by the U. S. War Food Administration

1. America is a land of milk and honey. We produce large surpluses of food—far beyond our ability to consume them.

FALSE Despite a steady increase in food production, we do not have enough food in total to satisfy all the demands—demands sharply stepped up by (1) the needs of food for war purposes; (2) the tremendous increase in civilian purchasing power.

2. Our farmers have accomplished a miraculous food production job in the past few years.

TRUE Every year for the past six years they have set new records for food output. This year they may top even that record!

3. The Army and Navy must necessarily build up large reserve stocks of food.

TRUE To be certain that the right food will always be available at the right time, our armed forces require at least a 90-day supply for men quartered in this country . . . a 9-month supply for each man overseas.

4. Our Allies don't REALLY need the food we're sending them.

FALSE Our Allies could not keep up their stamina and fighting strength if we failed to send them food. Even with our supplies, their food standards are generally far below ours. They could use much more food than we are sending them!

5. American civilians get the leftovers, after allotments are made to others.

FALSE American civilians get the bulk of our total record-breaking food production—actually three-fourths of it for the next 12 months. And—except for the Army and Navy, who deserve maximum consideration—the supply for American civilians is considered most important. Under no circumstances will the food supply be divided in such a way that American civilians will be deprived of Basic Food Requirements.

6. To win the war we will have to help food peoples liberated from the Axis.

TRUE The treatment that the people of these countries receive will be watched carefully by the people of countries not yet freed from Axis domination. And if it can be demonstrated that they will be "better off"—fed instead of starved, for instance—under the United Nations, the war can be shortened.

7. Rationing isn't necessary.

FALSE Rationing is necessary—to see to it that everyone gets an opportunity to obtain his fair share of some of our most popular foods, among them foods that are vital for proper health. We want and have the money to buy more than there is on hand. Without rationing, these foods would go only to those who could get to the store first.

8. We civilians can't do anything about food prices.

FALSE Food prices can be kept within reasonable limits. It depends on you—and every other American. Coöperation is the magic word that holds food prices down to top legal limits. Look for official prices posted in your store or Ration Board or published in this newspaper. Learn what these top legal prices are and never pay more.

9. A substantial amount of food is wasted.

TRUE The civilian population wastes annually enough food to feed two-thirds of our armed forces at home and abroad! We might well take a tip from our armed forces. They're working to reduce food waste to an unprecedented low, through better meal planning and education.

10. American civilians are going to be well fed—for the duration and during the rehabilitation.

TRUE We'll be fed well enough for health and strength. However, we'll all have to help—to be sure that there's food for all. It's our duty to ourselves, to our armed forces—to our fight for freedom. Yes, each and every one of us should do all these things:

WHAT YOU CAN DO ABOUT FOOD

PRODUCE FOOD. Our farmers are already being asked to produce more than ever before. Every city family is also called on to produce if able. Bring your Victory Garden to full harvest—keep it up, tend it, pick your crop. Help out on a farm or in a food processing plant if possible.

CONSERVE FOOD. Can and preserve as much fresh and perishable food as possible. Cut waste—use every crumb, every drop. Stretch the available food supply, too, by eating the right foods—the most nutritious foods. Be willing to substitute plentiful for scarce foods—even though this means changing the eating habits of years.

SHARE FOOD. Knowing all the facts set forth here, put the war's food demands first. Share the food supply willingly with your armed forces, your Allies, your neighbors.

PLAY SQUARE WITH FOOD. Respect it for what it is—a vital war material. Pledge yourself to accept no rationed food without giving up ration stamps—and to pay no more than top legal prices. That way you kill "Black Markets"—you play square with your country.

ELECTRICITY IS VITAL TO THE WAR EFFORT—PLEASE USE IT CAREFULLY!

To Curb Reckless Minority

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S order authorizing new and vigorous action against workers and employers who hamper the war effort by work stoppage is directed against a small and reckless minority on both sides. In speaking of labor troubles which hamper the war effort we are likely to lose sight of the fact that the overwhelming majority of workers are observing faithfully the no-work-stoppage commitments of their leaders.

The President puts new teeth in the powers of the WLB by authorizing the drafting of employes who stop work, by permitting the government to withhold the dues checked off for the unions and by establishing means for withholding war contracts and materials from employers who refuse to comply with official rulings.

The work or fight rule has been talked about ever since Pearl Harbor. It is intended only as a last resort for if a man has been deferred on occupational grounds it is prima facie evidence that he is more important to the nation in overalls than in uniform. If he won't work he can and should be given a gun. There are no walkouts in the army.

Most of the nation's strikes have been unauthorized by the unions leaders and many of them have been over shockingly trivial grievances. Wherever workers or employers refuse to take their share in the war seriously enough to keep production moving to the limit of their ability, government authority should act and anything which cracks down on the reckless minority on either side wins cheers from the American public which wants to see the war over quickly. The public knows, even if some irresponsible hotheads do not, that every time war production is held up the war is extended and more lives are lost.

Juvenile War Workers

INDUSTRY in every part of the nation and especially in Ohio where the labor shortage is acute, faces a shock and headache with the opening of school when thousands of high school pupils will be going back to school.

Teens age workers flocked to the war plants when schools closed in June and they will be flocking out of them next month to go back to their classrooms. Some will stay on the machines but surveys show that the majority are planning to return to school.

Most industrial plants have shown a fine spirit of cooperation with boys and girls who want to continue their education. No one knows better than business and industrial executives the value of an education and they are refraining almost to a man from putting obstacles in the way of youth who are willing to give up big war wages to finish their schooling.

In fact they are cooperating by adjusting their schedules so that their juvenile workers may spend at their machines whatever part time hours they can take from their school work.

One plant with 50 high school boys earning more than $160 a month reports that all but one are giving up their jobs to go back to school. That shows youth's eagerness for knowledge for $160 a month is more than date money to any teen age lad.

It will take a lot of wisdom and understanding as well as an abundance of patience and hard work for industrial leaders and school heads to come to the decisions which will determine how far youth can go in helping the war effort without handicapping their future. It also means some serious thinking on the part of parents who have the welfare of their children at heart.

In for the Finish

AS the WAAC becomes the WAC and a regular part of the army instead of an auxiliary, members are given the privilege of reenlisting in the army or of going home but the generals are not much worried.

The loyalty and the spirit for victory shown by the women soldiers has been an inspiration to officers and men in all the fighting forces. No branch of the service has shown more devotion or a better spirit.

These young women, all volunteers, put on the uniform because they wanted to have a share in the big job and they won't put it off until victory.

The ones who quit will scarcely be enough to make up a bridge foursome.

Stating It Mildly

AN amazing modesty, strikingly alien to the skillful extravagance which great men often put into their utterances, is found in some of the day's public expressions. Here are examples:

"Our armies have successfully disengaged themselves from the fighting in Sicily"—Paul Goebbels, Nazi propaganda head.

"Allied bombing of U-boat manufacturing centers has not been conducive to production" —Navy Secretary Frank Knox.

"I surrounded them"—A British major telling how he captured 400 Italians single handed.

The Solomon Islands were named after King Solomon because they were supposed to be the source of gold with which the King decorated the temple of Jerusalem.

San Francisco has more hotel rooms than any other city in the United States save one.

News Behind the News

Post-War Peace Plans Must Embody Tolerance and Justice for All.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—My suggestion that our peace program be worked out on a basis of democratic and Christian principles struck a popular responsive chord, but enough scattered criticism and misunderstanding has developed to require further clarification.

A Jewish woman in San Diego suggests that Christianity is exclusive and incompatible with democracy, which promises freedom of religion. The true inspiration of Christianity, of course, is tolerance and justice for all, which is the basic principle of democracy. The roots of the Christian theory run back to the Mosaic law of the Ten Commandments. Both have inspired the laws and customs of our land. There is not the slightest inconsistency between them.

Many clergymen of all faiths report having read my column from their pulpits but two have protested my simplification of Christian principles to the theme of common justice, good neighborliness, kindliness and fairness. They rightly say Christian religions are much more than this and that even heathens could get in under my tent. Indeed, they could.

Politics, Not Religion

We are dealing in the postwar discussions not with matters of religion, but with politics, statesmanship and formulas for national living. Theologians must interpret Christianity as a religion in their respective ways. Statesmen must follow the inherent theme of Christian theory.

My suggestion is that statesmen and politicians follow the simple fundamental principles of Christianity as they have in making laws. The moral conception of honesty, good and evil, preached by Confucius ("man is inherently good") is close enough to fundamental Christian principles to indulge that kind of a postwar democratic world.

Our Christian way of life is not sufficiently approved to warrant us making it exclusive. Conflicting theories into which we will run in the postwar settlement are those of atheism, agnosticism and man-made religions of the state—Nazism, Fascism and Communism. These teach, for instance, that even murder is justifiable in the interest of the majority. Political opposition they say must be exterminated or liquidated by murder. The opposite doctrine which we have followed is the Sixth Commandment, the only condoned exception being wars of self-defense. "Thou shalt not kill," has not been amended for us to add "except in politics."

Church and Peace

Several readers believed I wanted the churches to make the peace. They question their ability to do so on the basis of past records. This was a strenuous over-interpretation of the column. It would be enough for me if church leaders exert pressure upon statesmen for maintenance of simple Christian and democratic principles in their settlement. Elected representatives of the people are charged with making the peace, not the clergy. Churchmen are unfitted for the task by any measuring gauge of practical experience. They will do their duty if they keep the statesmen on the right path.

The Perfect Life

Two readers objected to my statement that no one I knew of had lived Christianity fully, claiming many holy men and women had done so. I am not a competent judge, but I am sure all the saints would be first to protest that they had equaled Christ and were without original or ensuing sins of thought, word or deed. To me, Christ was the only divine human. I like to think they looked at it that way also.

These criticisms and misinterpretation only serve to emphasize the necessity that peace be based upon both Christian and democratic principles. Already the Russians are sponsoring a committee for the restoration of "democracy" in Germany. Refugees on this committee in Russia, says Pravda truthfully, are Socialists and Communists. The kind of "democracy" and "freedom" they would restore to Germany is not our kind.

If we demand only democracy there and elsewhere over the postwar earth, without Christianity, we will be something foreign to our inclinations and beliefs. Words have been corrupted by artful politicians until they have lost their genuine meaning. The difference between us and Russia lies not in the word "democracy" or "anti-Fascist," but in Christianity. That difference must be preserved.

La Piana Salvemini

THE Allies were caught unprepared by Mussolini's downfall.

We blundered in our political warfare. We were not prepared, as a result, to take immediate advantage of the chaos in Italy following Mussolini's fall because our diplomats were determined that there should be no real democratic revolution in Italy.

We hope it is not too late to change such disastrous policies. At any rate, the first golden opportunity to solve the Italian war problem is gone.

Mussolini's downfall was hailed as a sure sign that Italy was ready to accept our terms of unconditional surrender. According to Winston Churchill, "one man and one man only" kept Italy in the war at Germany's side. Yet the new Italian government has called for more German divisions to strengthen the defense of continental Italy. The war goes on.

Our diplomats had long cherished the hope that a coalition of ex-Fascist chiefs, clericals, monarchists and industrial and agricultural lords would one day unseat Mussolini and hand us Italy without fighting.

Only One Way

They had not learned that dictatorships like that of Mussolini can be unseated only by revolution in the wake of military disaster. Anyway, our diplomats did not want a revolution.

Now that Mussolini has fallen, they are pleased to see Badoglio ruthlessly putting down the attempts at rebellion by the Italian people. At the same time, however, angered but not disillusioned by Badoglio's refusal to surrender, the same diplomats with cold cynicism appeal to the helpless Italian people, machine-gunned by Badoglio's carabineers, and tell them to force their government to surrender or else be bombed out of existence.

Our policy towards Italy before the Sicilian invasion raised doubts whether the ideas prevailing in Washington are compatible with our solemn avowals that we in this war seek freedom and democracy for all.

Our state department defeated the attempt to organize in this country an anti-Fascist legion open to Italian anti-Fascist volunteers from the concentration camps of India, Africa, England and America and under the direction of American officers. Such a legion, making possible the dropping of thousands of men from the air over Rome, Turin, Milan, and Genoa at the moment of Mussolini's demise, would have rendered the Italian revolution successful.

Help From Army

It is reasonable to assume that the rank and file of the Italian army, which refused to fire upon the population, would have joined the revolution. The ports of Civitavecchia, Leghorn, Genoa and Bari would have been opened to receive American and British divisions ready in Sicily. In a few days all southern and central Italy would have been in our hands, and our armies would have been solidly entrenched in northern Italy's vital points.

But our diplomats have done their utmost to prevent such strategy. They prefer to conquer Italy inch by inch rather than allow democratic anti-Fascist forces to play any part in Italy's deliverance. They have sternly forbidden anti-Fascist political refugees to set foot in Italy.

The new military dictatorship neither solves the problem nor works in our favor. It has merely enabled generals and officers of the regular army to satisfy old grudges against the Fascist parvenus and their corrupt bosses. It is, of course, seeking to saddle on Mussolini alone the blame for military disasters. To save the monarchy the new dictatorship is shooting the people.

Badoglio's main task is to strangle any revolutionary attempt made by the people. The task of chasing the Nazi armies from Italy is exclusively ours. When that is done, our diplomats will see to it that the monarchy and its Badoglios remain in control to stifle any future revolution.

TOLEDO — The jeep has come to its own rescue here.

Its motor, adapted as a magnetic "scrap hound," is now being used to pick up sharp pieces of metal from the factory floors which formerly cut and punctured many of the scout car's tires.

Designed by conservation engineers at Willys-Overland, the new device in its first month of operation reduced by 50 per cent the number of jeep tires rejected by government officials because of cuts sustained on test runs.

The "scrap hound" consists of a standard four-cylinder Jeep motor, a generator, a magnet capable of lifting a 700-pound manhole cover and a Jeep trailer. Energized by the motor, the magnet is driven around the plant a few inches from the ground, picking up nails, steel turning and other metal objects. During the first four days of its operation, it added 3,145 pounds of metal to the company's scrap pile.

German Or Nazi --- The Same

From the New York Herald Tribune.

BOTH Britain and the United States have asserted that we are fighting Nazism rather than Germans. Russia, more recently and specifically, has broadcast to Germany and the world that she fights not the German people but to rid Russian soil of the Nazis. A line has been drawn between the German people and the Nazi system. Pundits, professional and otherwise, have debated with some heat what our attitude should be toward the German people as distinguished from the notorious Nazi leaders, some proponents of the subtle distinction between Germans and Nazis going so far as to infer that the former are, in fact, our brothers in spirit.

The distinction between Germans and Nazis is a dangerously false one. As the armed forces of the United States and Britain are representatives of and supported by their nations as a whole, so are their German counterparts. We have no reason to credit the German people with less loyalty to their armies and national leaders than we ourselves bear to our national leaders and fighting forces.

Some Hitler Haters

Undoubtedly it is true that there are within Germany some people who find Hitler and all his works distasteful, yet this does not justify us in treating the German nation as a thing apart from the policies of its leaders. Even in these grimly determined United States there are some people who do not see exactly eye to eye on domestic policies with the powers that be in Washington. And I should be very much surprised if there are no Englishmen who criticize Mr. Churchill from time to time, audibly and publicly.

As in 1914-'16, when the German armies were conquering they are cheered and supported at home. The people of Germany accept the fruits of victory over their neighboring states and take pride in their military successes. It would be most unnatural for them to do otherwise. Let us, then, cease the self-deception of separating the German sheep from the Nazi goats. The animal is one and the same.

If, in the dark autumn days of 1940, the fortunes of war had enabled the Nazis to knock Britain out of the war, does any one think for a moment that the German people would have failed to cheer and swell with pride? Would they, does any one think, have rejected the economic and political mastery of Europe which such an event would have produced? Hardly.

Sole German Hope

This subject is of more than academic interest. It contains, for us, the seeds of political and spiritual defeat; for the Germans it provides almost their sole hope of escaping the just consequences of their deeds. Historically, military alliances among nations have been less vlunerable to the heat of battle than to political and ideological schisms. It is the enemy's game to foment mistrust among nations allied in common defense and eventually overcome them one by one.

Suppose, fantastically, that Russia seized upon the departure of the men and trappings of Naziism to make an armistice with a German military junta — pursuing the theory that their war was not against the German nation but against the Nazi regime! The American and British forces in Europe would then be faced by five million well trained and well armed German (not Nazi) troops.

Let us be realistic. The war in Europe is far from won, American and British armies in Libya, Tunisia and Sicily have met but comparative corporals' guards of the German army—not more than 10 or 15 divisions at the most. Let us not enlarge the chink in our armor by supporting the sentimental fallacy that our fight is not against the German nation. Russians on the eastern front, Americans and Britons, Canadians and French in Sicily and men from other of the United Nations on the seas and in the skies are being killed by Germans and not by political or ideological symbols. Let us rather grimly determine not to repeat the error of throwing away victory so dearly bought—as we did following 1918—by absolving the German people and nation of responsibility for the misdeeds of its entity. Otherwise, fantastic though the thought may be, we shall plant the seeds for the third World war.

Ship's Bells

Ships' bells are very contradictory. T not primarily intended to replace clo telling time. But they do tell clock measuring the periods when certain me the crew are standing watch.

It all started with an hourglass—wh wasn't an hourglass but a half-hour g man on watch turned the glass over a of his first half-hour and rang one s the bell; and he repeated this performa half-hour, ringing an additional st time, until at the end of four hours eight strokes, signaling the complet watch and the beginning of the next f watch.

So it went during the six watches twenty-four hours—ending at 12 m a. m., 8 a. m., 12 noon, 4 p. m. and The hourglass has long since been out but the bells are still used. So it's "e at each of these six different times; an case its "one bell" half an hour later, at the end of an hour, and so so.

Just to make things more complica hours of men on watch sometimes instance, there are two "dog" watches hours each between 4 and 8 o'cloc evening. Also, some Scandinavian ships the watches over a twenty-four hou into two stretches of four hours, t hours and one of six.

Strong Call Made for Second Front

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Aug. 20—The magazine "War and the Working Class" states in an editorial titled "Quebec and the Soviet Union" that "Quebec is serving the interests of the Anglo-American forces and expresses their opinion, but still does not express the opinion of the entire Anglo-Soviet-American coalition."

"The Soviet Union has only one opinion," the article said. "The time is ripe to inflict a decisive blow from the east and the west."

The article called for a three-power conference which would cut down the length of the war and prepare the peace on the basis of friendly collaboration of the allies.

Ploesti Air Raid Pictures at Theater

Photographs of the aerial plastering American Liberator bombers gave the vast Ploesti oil fields in Rumania, described by President Roosevelt as a heavy blow to the axis oil supply, will be shown at the Palace theater Sunday through Wednesday, Manager George Planck said today. The newsreel photos include views of the bombers rehearsing the precision skip-bombing tactics used in the long-flight raid, and show the takeoff and the clouds of smoke that arose from the targets as 300 tons of explosives were dropped.

TEACHER SHORTAGE PROBLEM TO BE MET

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 20—A war-caused shortage of qualified teachers confronts Ohio as schools prepare to open, but the Buckeye state has taken stop-gap measures to assure youngsters of an education.

Harold J. Bowers, state supervisor of teacher certification, reported today the armed services and lucrative wartime jobs had reduced the ranks of fully certified teachers by about 4,000, approximately 10 per cent of Ohio's normal teacher strength.

"We are meeting the emergency," he explained, "by issuing temporary one-year certificates to persons whose qualifications do not quite meet requirements prescribed by the state.

"Mostly these include former teachers and others who have not yet completed their college courses.

"We will not entirely make up the loss of 4,000 fully qualified teachers, but the cooperation of those temporarily certificated will see Ohio through the war emergency with a minimum deviation from education standards."

Acute shortages are found in courses involving industrial arts, physical education, agriculture, sciences and business education.

"There will be hundreds of schools unable to offer certain courses," Bowers said, "but in most schools faculty members will double up, taking over courses in which they are sufficiently versed to conduct classes."

Ottawa, O., Flier Credits Irish Luck for Being Alive

By ART BURGESS

RUSSELL ISLANDS, Aug. 17—(Delayed)—Marine Corps fliers carrying the offensive northward from the key air base in the Solomon islands have hair-raising tales of sky battles.

Topping all was the adventure of Lt. Sheldon Hall, red-haired fighter pilot who credits the luck of the Irish for his rescue after being missing 16 days.

Hall, a former Ottawa, O., farm boy who now has six planes to his credit, was shot down and landed in a smooth sea.

"It was luck all the way and I am rather surprised I am alive," he related.

"My outfit was on an escort mission to Kahili, Bougainville island, and defending Japanese Zeros were everywhere.

"I was sailing along pretty low under a cloud bank because I had just finished off a Zero which was on the tail of a Corsair low over the water. Suddenly a Zero drove out of the clouds right upon me. Before I could escape one 20 millimeter slug hit my throttle handle and I got shrapnel in my wrist and fingers.

"When I hit the water I was travelling fast. That's about all I remember. When I came to my sense I was in the water alongside an inflated rubber boat.

"I paddled all day and night and the next day reached an island and slept in the jungle. I followed a narrow trail two miles and suddenly came upon two Japs within three feet of me.

"I got away without detection and found an abandoned native village and remained there five days, sleeping on a crude wooden bench and eating fruit and berries. Finally I decided to travel again. I found another village where I almost was shot until the natives saw my red hair and shouted 'American.'

"Thank goodness, my redhead saved my life. The natives took me on a 20-mile hike through thick jungles and a wild ride in a war canoe to a point where I was picked up by a rescue plane."

Hall is a graduate of Findlay college.

Goebbels Promises New Secret Weapon on Way

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 20—Paul Joseph Goebbels, Hitler's propaganda chief, promised the German people today a new secret weapon may soon give them relief from Allied air raids.

"The new weapon against aerial war imposed upon us by the enemy is under construction," he wrote in his weekly article in the propaganda publication Das Reich. "Day and night innumerable busy hands are engaged in its completion."

Berlin Government Removal Regarded As Important Sign

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

One of the most interesting pieces of news to come out of Germany since the war began—and it's one of the most important, if true—is the report that the whole Nazi government has abandoned Berlin.

While this is unconfirmed, it does come on the heels of the evacuation of a million residents of the threatened capital. Maybe Hitler's infallible intuition has enabled him to read the Allied program which has been set forth at Quebec by British minister of information Brendan Bracken thus pointedly:

"These plans are to bomb and burn and ruthlessly destroy, in every way available to us, the people responsible for creating this war."

One could wish, by the way, that the fuehrer might have heard Bracken deliver that edict. I wasn't present, but I know the minister as one of England's most colorful personalities. He's a big chap who pours out conviction in a torrent of forceful words, while his victim is held fascinated by the brilliant red hair which flares up from Bracken's head like the flames from a blast furnace. Yes, it's a pity Hitler wasn't there.

Denotes Desperation

For any normal government—which of course the Nazi regime is not—desertion of the national capital is like abandonment of a ship at sea. It's an act that denotes desperation.

Thus the head of a government and his chief ministers cling to their capital as a sea captain sticks to his bridge. They're among the last to leave. When they do go, it means they have small hope that the first city of the nation will survive.

During the height of the terrible aerial blitz which London endured in 1940-41, when the British ship of state was wallowing in mountainous seas, the square-jawed Churchill and his cabinet stuck to the bridge. True, some archives and subordinate offices were moved out of London, but for the prime minister and his government to flee the capital would have been regarded as an admission of defeat, both at home and abroad.

Stalin Stuck

Back in 1941 when Hitler's victorious armies were surging towards Moscow, the Soviet authorities moved the diplomatic corps to Kuibyshev. But Stalin and the other members of the Red government coolly carried on at the old stand, as an inspiration and a guarantee of security to the peoples of all the Russias.

Now nobody suggests for a moment that if Hitler and his government have moved, or do move, it's because of cowardice. The Germans are brave enough.

Abandonment of the German capital would mean (1) that Berlin is in peril of destruction, and (2) that the Prussian militarists are exhibiting one of their outstanding characteristics—a disinclination to risk their necks unless it's absolutely necessary.

We have an illustration of this characteristic in the Prussian military policy that German officers shall not lead their men into battle, excepting in case of necessity. That tough task is left to the non-commissioned officers. The reason given for this is that officers are difficult to replace, and so should direct operations from behind the lines where they won't get killed.

Officers Not Cowards

There are, of course, variations to this. German officers will fight quick enough and hard enough if it's necessary. When the non-coms are out of action, the officers jump in and do their bit. Indeed, some like Marshal Rommel lead their men into action from preference. But those cases are the exception. The Prussian is a wholly cold-blooded individual who places small value on the other fellow's life, but likes to avoid trouble himself.

WPB REPORTS GAIN IN WAR CONTRACTS

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 20—The regional war production board announced today award of major prime war supply contracts amounting to $108,306,000 during the quarter-month ending July 16 in Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia and western Pennsylvania.

John C. Virden, regional WPB director, said the figure covers all supply contracts of $50,000 or more, except those for foodstuffs, reported to the WPB between July 9 and July 16 by the Army, Navy, Maritime commission and treasury. Construction and facility contracts are excluded, he said.

The previous quarter month showed awards of $83,315,000, Virden declared.

In the Cleveland district award of major prime war supply contracts amounting to $19,916,000 was reported during the same period, George A. Moore, district WPB manager, said.

The district includes the following counties: Ashland, Crawford, Cuyahoga, Erie, Geauga, Huron, Lake, Lorain, Medina and Richland.

Charges Ohio Paid More Than Other Liquor Buyers

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 20—State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson said today the state liquor department paid a liquor broker $10 a case more for liquor than five Ohio permit holders paid for the same brand at the same time, and asked for an explanation.

In a letter to Liquor Director Don Fisher, the auditor said the permit holders bought a total of 300 cases of Cordon Rue Portuguese brandy from the Star Liquor Dealers, Inc., of Long Island, N. Y., at $27.43 a case. Consents for the purchases were issued by the liquor department on May 20 and 21.

On May 24, Ferguson set forth in his letter, the liquor department contracted for 5,000 cases of the same brand from the William Bauer Co. of Cleveland at $38.68 a case. Deducting a two per cent discount and free shipment to Ohio, the difference amounted to about $10 a case, or slightly above $50,000, Ferguson said.

Voters Favor Ban On Union Donations To Political Funds

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Aug. 20—One provision of the Connally-Smith Act to which labor union leaders strenuously object is the provision forbidding unions to contribute money to political parties.

When Congress convenes next month union leaders will undoubtedly seek the repeal of this as well as other parts of the Act. If Congress reflects the will of the people, however, the unions will face an uphill fight to remove that particular provision.

A survey of public opinion reveals that the outlawing of union campaign donations is approved by an overwhelming majority. In fact, the public is more strongly in favor of this feature of the Connally-Smith Act than it is of the similar provision in the Hatch Act which forbids business corporations to donate money to political parties. Both reforms are approved by a heavy vote.

The country's reaction was measured in an Institute survey in which voters were asked two questions, as follows:

"Do you think labor unions should or should not be allowed to give money to campaign funds of political parties?"

Should	17%
Should Not	65
Undecided	18

"Do you think business corporations should or should not be allowed to give money to campaign funds of political parties?"

Should	25%
Should Not	59
Undecided	18

It is significant that the rank and file of voters in the Democratic Party, whose coffers have been greatly aided in the past by union contributions, are almost as much in favor of the Connally-Smith ban on such contributions as the Republicans are.

Labor Union Contributions

	Republicans	Democrats
Should Be Permitted	14%	20%
Should Not	70	61
Undecided	16	19

The rank and file of the two parties also see eye to eye on the outlawing of corporate donations to political campaigns, as the following table shows:

Business Corporation Contributions

	Republicans	Democrats
Should Be Permitted	21%	24%
Should Not	60	57
Undecided	17	19

However much the leaders in the labor movement may oppose the Connally-Smith ban, the rank and file of union members are apparently satisfied to let it stand.

The vote of union members questioned in the poll is as follows:

	Union Members
Unions Should Contribute Funds to Parties	24%
Should Not	58
undecided	18

Correspondents At Front in Russia Live in Luxury

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Correspondent

MOSCOW, Aug. 20—When you read stories under the dateline, "With the Red Army," don't feel sorry for the correspondents over any hardships you may imagine they are undergoing.

We take it in the neck—and various other parts of us—going to and from the front but, while there, we loll in luxury.

Just a month ago I was sitting in a swank cocktail lounge on West 51st St., New York City. Now I have just been on a trip which reached a new high point in the Soviet organization of visits to the front. New York had nothing on the Russian front for comfort.

We stayed in a camp which could well serve as a rest resort for the tired American businessman. It rose as though by miracle on a bank of the Oka river opposite the ruins of Orel.

The roomy tents had four iron cots, each with snowy white sheets and khaki blankets. A table stood in the center covered with a tablecloth bearing a vase of flowers.

These super-special tents with double flaps at the door had sliding windows.

Even Hot Showers.

On the river bank was the bath tent providing hot showers.

A special mess tent had a head table for six persons and smaller tables for four set around the walls.

The service was provided by a squad of white-robed girls who heaped the tables twice daily with cold sausage, salmon, cheese, tomatoes, cucumbers, radishes, hot hamburger steak, potatoes, rice, vodka and hot milk.

There was also a "master barber" who entered the tent in the morning, said, "S'il vous plait," and offered a shave; and an accordionist who played Red army marching songs and selections from the opera Aida.

Prize attendant of all was 27-year-old medical corps lieutenant Dora who acted as orderly, kept the tents neat in the day, tucked in the correspondents at night and, saluting briskly, left them to slumber.

The trips to the front have even become co-educational. Four women correspondents were included this visit. One got a speck of dust in her eye and the caravan had to halt until it was removed, but otherwise they stood the test well.

There seemed to be one trouble about all this. We thought we war correspondents were going to the front. Our hosts thought we were a delegation which came from America to see how the Red army lives.

Some got the misunderstanding erased by the trip home, however, when enough discomfort was provided to make it really seem like a trip to the front. Paradoxically, the discomfort was furnished by the United States in the form of three American machines, known as "bucket seat weapon carriers," which were used for transportation.

The bucket seats actually consisted of extremely hard, wooden boards on which we sat facing each other in the backs of trucks while the machines bucked and bounced over rough roads.

We sat that way for 15 hours, taking what could be compared only to an old-fashioned spanking. The result was that when we got back to Moscow some of us had to put our typewriters on the top of the bookcase and write our dispatches standing up.

And we wished we could have brought the comforts of the camp back with us.

FARMERS URGED TO CURE OWN PROBLEMS

By The Associated Press

BATAVIA, O., Aug. 20—Murray D. Lincoln, executive secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau, urged [illegible] southwestern Ohio farm people yesterday to try to work out their own problems rather than expect the government to do it for them.

Lincoln told a farmers' victory rally at the Clermont county fair grounds in nearby Owensville, "when you ask the government to do something for you, you put the government in a position to do something to you."

"In the past," he said, "we have been to anxious to get a dole rather solve our own problems. It's not wise to blame the government for the present farm situation. We ought to blame ourselves for not taking action ourselves 15 or 20 years ago."

He urged establishment of co-operatives as "tools to fashion our own destinies."

Predicting that labor unions would turn to cooperatives, he said, "the farmers can deal direct with urban working people and go around the monopolies in milk, packing, and so forth."

Lincoln, a delegate to the recent international food conference, said the United States would provide technical leadership for other countries after the war.

"We won't put a quart a milk on every Hottentot's doorstep," Lincoln said, "but we'll help him produce it for himself."

CAP Assigned New War Duty

The Civil Air Patrol has been assigned another man-sized job in the nation's total war effort.

Already engaged in the recruiting of aviation cadets for the Army air corps, CAP has now been requested by the Army to conduct classes in military drill for men expected to be called into service in the next few months.

The latest assignment as outlined to local CAP officials in a recent notice from Col. Earle L. Johnson, national CAP commander, calls for CAP units to conduct classes in military courtesy, discipline and drill. Physical training will be emphasized in all phases of the contemplated training program. Calisthenics, hikes and marches will be conducted regularly.

Through the cooperation of CAP medical officers and local physicians, the CAP program will aim to correct minor physical defects and to harden recruits for the tough training ahead for them if inducted into one or another of the armed forces.

The pre-training which CAP has given to its own members and air cadets, together with special training which some units have extended to selectees and aviation cadets awaiting call, has made better soldiers out of thousands of men and women now serving with our armed forces, Lt. William J. Traynor, public relations officer of the local CAP unit, said.

While the full course of CAP training is designed to prepare members for aviation service, military subjects taught in CAP classes have helped men and women in all phases of war-time service to better their individual stations. The important thing is not their personal advancement in the ranks, Lt. Traynor explained, but the fact that they are better able to take their place in the war effort.

It is not necessary for men and women expecting to enter military service at an early date to become members of the CAP. Persons desiring the form of training which CAP can provide through its own well-trained membership are invited to visit the municipal airport any day of the week. Members of the organization are on duty at the port at all times to assist in this type of training.

DANES WRECK NAZI PLANTS

Sabotage Program Hits Both Factories and Transport Facilities.

By The Associated Press

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 20—A determined, countrywide campaign of sabotage, apparently aimed at destroying land and sea transport facilities used by the Nazis to supply their forces in Norway was reported by travelers arriving here from Denmark today.

Danish patriots, the travelers said, are systematically wrecking Danish factories producing German war materials as well as railroads and harbor installations which have become increasingly important to the Germans since they no longer can ship men and supplies across Sweden to Norway.

At the same time representatives of the five major Danish political parties were called into extraordinary session in Copenhagen, apparently to consider changes in the government's policy toward Nazi occupation of Denmark.

Possibility of a switch in government leaders was seen as a result of the conclave.

Meanwhile disorders were reported mounting, travelers bringing word of clashes between patriots and German soldiers in Odense. They said a railroad line transporting German war supplies for shipment to Norway had been dynamited at several places between Flensburg, Germany and Aarhus, Denmark.

Reports reaching Malmo said that 15 German soldiers were killed in riots which forced the authorities to clamp down an 8 p. m. curfew on most of the Funen island district.

Mrs. Lucile Stahl, L. G. Jones Wed in Lutheran Church

THE marriage of Mrs. Lucile Stahl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. O'Brien of 839 Maple street, Mansfield, and L. G. Jones of Marion, was solemnized at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in Emanuel Lutheran church. Only the immediate families of the couple were present for the ceremony read by the pastor, Rev. M. E. Hollensen.

Mrs. William Ackerman Jr., organist, played a program of wedding music, including "All for You," Brown, "Liebestraum," Liszt, "Nocturne" from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream," "Cantilene Nuptil," DuBois, "Ah! Sweet Mystery of Life," Herbert and during the ceremony she played "I Love You Truly," Bond and the hymn, "O Perfect Love."

For her wedding Mrs. Stahl chose a two-piece crepe suit in a chocolate brown shade with which she wore a matching Juliet cap and veil, and beige gloves. Her flowers were a corsage of yellow roses.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Jones left on a short wedding trip and upon their return will be at home at 411 Summit street.

Mrs. Jones is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan university and prior to joining the public school staff here last year as head of the department of distributive education, was with the H. L. Reed Co. in Mansfield. Mr. Jones is supervisor of music in the public schools.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien and daughter, Mrs Earl Zemke of Mansfield, attended the ceremony.

CIO Unions To Make Plans for War Chest Drive

George Delaplane, director of the state CIO war relief committee, will preside at a special Marion Industrial Union Council meeting regarding the forthcoming United War Chest campaign. This special session, ordered by Council President Ellis Oiler, following a regular council meeting Wednesday night, will be held in the near future.

All local union presidents, other officers, and delegates to the council, have been requested to attend the meeting.

James Jenkins, president of local Union, 1947, U. S. of A., was elected to fill a vacancy as trustee member of the War Chest at Wednesday night's meeting, held at the Steel Workers' hall on East Center street. The vacancy was caused when A. R. Barnhard, resigned as a trustee member.

The recreation committee, in its regular report to the council, announced that a joint meeting of Marion labor and management would be held at Hotel Harding Monday night concerning the promotion of the Labor Day program. sponsored by the city recreation commission. All local union officers were asked by recreation committeemen to attend the meeting, which has been scheduled to start at 8 p. m. in the Marion club room.

President Oiler reported that at the next meeting of the council, election of a new member of the board of trustees and sergeant-at-arms would take place.

Other business at Wednesday night's council session included regular reports from the following committees: day nursery, war manpower, legislative, public affairs, recreation, organization and United War Chest.

NEW YORK PAPER DELIVERIES DELAYED

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 20—Deliveries of late city editions of the New York Times and Herald Tribune were delayed today when members of the Newspaper Mailers and Deliveries union, employed by independent distributors, staged a walkout.

A threatened stoppage of a major portion of the two papers' city deliveries was averted when assistant superintendents of the Metropolitan News Co., Manhattan and Bronx distributors, manned delivery trucks.

The work stoppage was termed "an outlaw strike, unauthorized by the union itself" by Abraham M Rosen, treasurer of the Metropolitan company, who said he believed the men were dissatisfied with a war labor board decision awarding them a $1-a-day increase.

Union officials declined comment on the walkout, although Joseph Simons, president of the union, an independent organization, urged the men to return to work.

The city's two other leading morning papers, the Daily News and Daily Mirror, were not affected by the walkout as they have their own delivery facilities.

Early editions of the Times and Herald Tribune are handled by the newspapers' own distributing departments.

Fair Premium List for 1880 Recalls Exhibits of Early Days

Old timers who can remember the county fairs of some sixty years ago will recall clearly just how much excitement was in the air [illegible] days at [illegible] weeks before the opening of the fair. At that time the fair [illegible] [illegible] the section. The [illegible] many the only time [illegible] could attend such a [illegible]. Roads were bad [illegible] was by horse and buggy [illegible] based entirely [illegible] of a horse.

Residents planned for the entire year for [illegible] [illegible] exhibits alone. Immediately after the fair closed and even as the [illegible] headed up to return to their farms, plans for the next year were discussed. Good times were [illegible] with the people already [illegible] forward to the fair next year.

Recently a 14-page newspaper [illegible] the program for the 93rd annual county fair was printed. A list of the premium winners from last year and announcements of the exhibits expected this year were given as were the names of advertisers who extended their best wishes to this year's attendants.

Quite A Contrast.

In direct contrast to the latest streamlined section, which was the size of the daily paper folded, one of the earlier fair programs was a booklet approximately four by six inches and containing a great number of pages. A Marionite, who owns a collections of [illegible] is a portion of a program printed for the thirtieth Marion county fair in 1880. Although the booklet is incomplete it contains 88 pages of premiums and advertising.

Some of the premiums listed are things that a number of the present day exhibitors have probably never seen. It was common to read of a furniture dealer who also conducted an undertaking service. Coffins and burial cases shared the advertising with bedsteads and bureaus. Drug stores still carry the same variety of merchandise although in 1880 wines and liquors were sold by both druggists and grocers.

Business establishments gave their locations in the following manner: "store, west side of Main street, south of public square, first door south of the three maples," or "west side South Main street, third door north of south square." Another location was described as follows: "west end of Campbell's Block, opposite post office."

Lawyer Advertised.

A lawyer had the following advertisement inserted: "Attorney-at-Law, office on the southeast corner of Main street and "Tin Can Alley," north of the Kerr House, will attend to all legal business intrusted to his care. Has no specialties." Another ad that isn't seen any more was this one: "The only place in Marion that you can get first-class scroll sawing. All kinds of bracket work done at short notice and in first-class style."

The exhibits too were quite different from now. The fine arts display included textile fabrics, tailors' work, county manufactured millinery goods and various commercial products. The infant's layette even came in for its share of honors with prizes being awarded for the best embroidering and crocheting on the small garments.

Page after page listing horses and cattle were in the booklet, with sheep, swine and poultry also taking considerable space. Since horses were the only means of transportation, all types were entered in the contests from farm work to fine carriage horses.

In that year, 1880, the fair was held from Oct. 5-8 inclusive and unless farms were within driving distance, most of the families either stayed with friends or fixed temporary quarters on the grounds and made the most of the annual reunion with neighbors, relatives and friends.

NEWSPAPER WEEK SLOGAN ADOPTED

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 20—"A free press and a free people—an unbeatable team" is the slogan adopted for this year's observance of National Newspaper Week, Oct. 1 to 8, the National Newspaper Week committee announced yesterday.

The committee is headed by Vernon T. Sanford of Oklahoma City, Okla.

"Since the newspaper profession is more intimately and directly concerned with the affairs of our 133,000,000 American citizens than perhaps any other one privately-owned institution," said Sanford, "the publishers, acting through their press associations, four years ago set aside one week during the year in which they could unite for the promotion of a public relations program to better acquaint readers with their newspapers.

"It is hoped that through this year's observance of National Newspaper Week the newspapers may not only bring about a better understanding of the free press as a right of the people, but may also intensify appreciation of all our constitutionally guaranteed rights and privileges."

Yank Ingenuity Helps Save Lives in Sicilian War

Universal Cooler Dropped Out of District Softball Tourney by Fast-Stepping Fostoria Team

By CHARLES ELLIOTT

Fostoria's Screw Workers moved another notch nearer the district softball throne by scattering bunts in all directions at Lincoln park last night to de-ice Universal Cooler, 4 to 0. Some 500 wildly-cheering bystanders were on hand for the first tourney semi-final affair.

With the downfall of Cooler, the last Marion tournament hope is blotted out. The remaining three tourney teams all hail from out-of-town.

Fostoria will match runs with the winner of the semi-final game between the Tiffin Routh Packers and the Galion All-Stars in the district finals Sunday afternoon at Lincoln park.

Pitches One-Hitter

Bud Keller of Fostoria chalked up his second tournament win by zipping a one-hitter against Cooler. Saturday afternoon speedster Keller pitched the Screw Works to an 8 to 3 victory over General Excavator. Keller, a snap-ball smoker, baffled Universal hitters, 14 of whom hit the dust on strike outs.

Universal hitters simply were not capable of meeting Keller's offerings which included pitches as fast and puzzling as any thrown on local softball diamands.

When Fostoria players realized they couldn't get anywhere by taking full cuts at Bill Everly's pitches, they started to lay down bunts in the first of the fifth inning. Cooler infielders proved vulnerable. The Screw Workers continued to bunt, a thing which Cooler couldn't do against Keller, and consequently won the ball game.

All of the game's eight hits were singles. Only one of the bingles traveled beyond the infield. That was the one-bagger of Tom Jones, colored catcher of Fostoria, in the first half of the last inning. This safety, however, failed to bring about the scoring of any additional Screw Works tallies.

Atkinson Hits

The only Universal batsman who escaped being fanned by Keller was Don Atkinson, keen-eyed shortstop. In his tries with the wood, he was safe on an error, and grounded out twice pitcher Keller to first sacker Gee.

The following Cooler batters went down on whifs twice: Hart, Reid, Dillinger and Bill Everly. In the first and third stanzas, Keller struck out the side. In the third canto, the impressive Fostoria moundsman was really heating up catcher Jones' paddy. Partlow, Hart, and Milligan, in succession were struck out.

The Screw Works fifth was the first scoring inning of the game. Rader, swift shortstop, led off

(Turn to SOFTBALL, Page 11)

Sidelights On District Tourney

Cooler fielding, last night although not quite as adept as in the Industrial league championship game Wednesday night, did make even the Fostorians blink their eyes in amazement on occasions. Probably the leading play came in the last inning when the game's lone double killing was made. Lucadello lined to second baseman Reid, and doubled Kimble, streaking frantically back to first base after running too far from the sack on the infield popper.

• • •

Russ Boyd, second-line Fostoria flinger, is a no-hit artist according to Manager Joe Kinshaw. He has turned in several hitless performances. The latest was posted about three weeks ago against a tough northern Ohio team.... Johnny Kreps who played with Fostoria Saturday but was not in the lineup yesterday, is a top-flight hardball player. He was a member of the Fostoria semi-pro baseball outfit which frequently visited Marion last season to engage the Marion Hawks, disbanded local horsehiders.

• • •

The Lincoln park infield last night was in excellent shape but the outfield grass was still high and some players complained of getting tangled up in it when attempting to nab a long outfield drive....Players on both teams last night were constantly at odds with each other, the umpires, the scorekeepers or with matters in general. Many fans wouldn't be surprised if certain Cooler players are still in Lincoln park protesting an arbiter's decision, or a supposed scorekeeping blunder.

Only 3 Lettermen on Marysville Squad

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, Aug. 20—Only three lettermen are available for this year's Marysville High school football team as Coach John Ehlen issued a call for candidates to report for their first practice Monday. Not a single veteran backfield man is available and Coach Ehlen is planning to switch the veteran Bob Finch from center to the backfield. Palmer, a tackle, and Scheiderer, an end, are the two other lettermen returning. Coach Ehlen hopes to have close to 50 candidates.

Keep Your Lights Right

America's determination to outbuild the Axis has turned night into day for countless thousands of workers. That calls for more driving after dark—more attention to keeping headlights in good condition. Make sure yours are safe.

See the Danner Service Man —

We will check to see whether your headlights are properly adjusted or otherwise complying with wartime regulations. Often improvement can be made by such simple measures as cleaning the lenses and reflectors, replacing blackened bulbs or tightening loose connections. Perhaps a Guide Sealed Beam replacement unit is the answer; and if the trouble is more serious, we can take care of that, too.

We also take pride in being prompt. Should there be a delay in "delivery promises," it is due to wartime conditions beyond our normal control. We'll do our best to deliver as quickly as possible.

New Manager To Take Charge When Palace Recreation Center Reopens

When the Palace Recreation Center bowling lanes on West Center street reopen for business Saturday night after undergoing three weeks of resurfacing and other repair work, a new manager will be on hand to greet keglers. He is James E. Lloyd, former manager of the Recreation Center bowling plant in Newark.

Mr. Lloyd succeeds Al Shull, who only a month ago returned to his old post as Palace manager after an absence of several months. Shull will return to Detroit, where he was employed between the time of his bowing out of the local bowling scene last fall and his reappearance last month.

The new Palace manager has moved his family, consisting of his wife and daughter, to Marion. They are temporarily residing on South Main street.

Serving in the dual capacity of assistant manager and maintenance supervisor of the Palace plant for the 1943-44 season will be H. A. Cahill, who has been employed at the West Center street establishment almost since its construction three years ago. He also will be in charge of maintenance of the Marion Recreation Center alleys on South Prospect street for the coming season.

Floyd Messmore became Marion Recreation manager upon the reopening of those lanes three weeks ago.

The Palace lanes closed down temporarily about three weeks and immediately repairmen commenced to administer refinishing touches on the 12 Palace lanes. Surface treatment has been applied on all of the Palace lanes and many of the accessories around the Palace establishment have been redecorated.

Season Opening Near

The eight Marion lanes reopened at the same time the Palace closed about three weeks ago. Repairs on the South Prospect street plant started at the beginning of the summer bowling season last May. Refinishing at the Marion correspond to the type of repairs made at the Palace.

League bowling season is to get under way early next month at both the Marion and Palace lanes.

INDIANS EDGED, 2-1, IN 13-INNING TILT BEFORE BIG CROWD

Reynolds' 6-Hit Pitching Fails To Stop Yankees; Tribe in 3rd Place Tie.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 20—The first place Yankees and the third place Indians played 13 innings of baseball last night and early today—raising their total to 26 innings in 28 hours elapsed time.

The result was New York 2; Cleveland 1.

The largest crowd of Cleveland home season, 56,557 persons including American League President Will Harridge, witnessed the elongated game.

The two teams played a morning-afternoon doubleheader Wednesday, with the afterpiece running 14 innings.

Delayed more than an hour in the second inning by a failure of part of municipal stadium's floodlights, the game was stretched into extra innings by a Yankee tally in the ninth, matching an earlier Tribal run.

Allie Reynolds gave up only six hits in being handed his eighth defeat of the season. He pitched three-hit ball for the first eight innings.

Tiny Bonham pitched 12 innings for the Yankees, giving up eight hits. Chuck Wensloff pitched the thirteenth.

The Yankee victory sent the Indians into a third-place tie with Detroit, 10 games off the pace.

New York remains in Cleveland for games today and Saturday, their final appearances before the Indian home fans.

72 Golfers Entered In National Victory Tourney

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 20 — A select 42 outstanding pros and amateurs began 72-hole grind of the Chicago Victory National Golf championships today, with the preliminary business of a pro-amateur best-ball tourney already out of the way.

This tournament, sponsored by the Chicago District Golf association and the Professional Golfers of America, attracted the best field of the 1943 season, and par 36-35—71 of the South Side Beverly country club appeared doomed.

Sam Byrd of Philadelphia and his partner, Bob Cochran of St. Louis, runnerup in the Tam O'Shanter amateur tournament, gave par a slapping around in winning the prelude engagement yesterday, scoring 11 strokes under par with their 64-67—131. Jug McSpaden of Philadelphia, Tam O'Shanter open champion, and Private Jim McHale, ex-Philadelphia pro, authored 65-67—132 for runnerup honors.

The first 18-hole round was scheduled for today, with another 18 due tomorrow and a final 36 on Sunday.

Athletics Lose 13th Straight Game, but Fans Don't Squawk

Losing streaks cause excitement, apparently, in proportion to who is doing the losing.

When the Brooklyn Dodgers dropped 10 in a row recently the frantic Flatbush fans wanted to run Branch Rickey into the Gowanus Canal and when the Philadelphia Phillies tossed off 17 out of 27 Stanley Raymond (Bucky) Harris, a manager of proven ability, was fired.

But the Philadelphia Athletics now have lost 13 consecutive games and 19 of their last 22 and all the attention they are getting is a broad yawn.

One reason for this, of course, is that losing streaks for the Athletics are as common as ants at a picnic.

Mostly however, the calm reaction to consistent losing by the A's is in deference to Connie Mack, the grand old man of baseball. Every other major league team is considered the community property of the fans.

The A's are the exception. They belong to Mr. Mack and whether they finish first or last, nobody is going to squawk. The important thing to the fans is that the 80-year-old patriarch continue wagging that famous scorecard.

The A's latest loss was another shutout 4-0 on four-hit pitching by Dennis Galehouse of the St. Louis Browns last night.

At the top of the American league the New York Yankees squeezed back into the victory column with a 2-1 thirteen-inning decision over the Cleveland Indians in a night game.

The defeat dropped Cleveland back into a tie for third place as Washington whipped the Chicago White Sox 4-3.

Detroit divided a doubleheader with the Boston Red Sox, losing the first 4-3 through Joe Cronin's two-run pinch double and winning the second 10-0 on Virgil Trucks' four-hit hurling and the hitting of Rudy York, who collected his 24th homer and batted in six runs.

In the National league the St. Louis Cardinals were upset by the Philadelphia Phillies 6-5.

Two home runs by Jim Russell and one by Vince DiMaggio, his 14th, accounted for seven runs as the Pittsburgh Pirates plastered the New York Giants 8-1.

Curt Davis held the Chicago Cubs to eight hits and scoreless after Bill Nicholson hit a two-run homer in the first inning to give Brooklyn a 9-2 triumph over Chicago.

Cincinnati clustered three runs in the sixth to beat the Boston Braves 7-5.

RED BIRD CAMP OPENS

COLUMBUS, Aug. 20—Scout Joe McDermott, for many years a player and manager in St. Louis Cardinal farm clubs, has been added to the staff of officials who will be in charge of the annual try-out camp of the Columbus Red Birds today through Sunday. Headed by Joe Mathes, a staff of five will analyze the qualifications of the youngsters who are seeking careers in organized baseball. Boys from Ohio and adjacent states are slated to go through days of intensive activity in an effort to make the grade and earn contracts for 1944.

BREWERS OVERCOME RED BIRDS, 10 TO 6

By The Associated Press

The Milwaukee Brewers do things with a flourish, whether it's swinging bats or spinning turnstiles, and were highly efficient in both of those maneuvers yesterday in extending their American Association lead to two full games again.

Bill Norman connected for his 14th home run with the bases full and the score tied, 6 to 6, in the 10th inning to defeat the Columbus Red Birds, 10 to 6, and send 4,429 spectators home to lunch in a happy mood.

Third-place Indianapolis lost further ground as they dropped a 5 to 4 decision to St. Paul.

Louisville moved past Toledo into fourth place by beating Minneapolis, 4 to 1.

Kansas City tied the score in the ninth inning and won in the 13th, 2 to 1, over Toledo in an afternoon contest.

The three two-team members during the regular season have signified their preference of playing with Universal in the Series.

The three Series contestants will be fighting for the city softball championship which was copped by S.W.O.C. 1943, Marion Steam Shovel, last season.

Even though Epworth will be handicapped in the Series game by the loss of Hart, Reis and Partlow, the Methodists still will have some capable players. Some of these are Gerald Smart, Bob Scott, manager of Commercial Steel in the Industrial league, Darrel Roseberry, Roy Everly, Fritz Guy, Dick Mulvaine and Barney Evans. Coke also will boast some first-class softballers including Fritz Walters, thought by many fans to be the city's leading softball player, Bob Cocherl and Winfred Gorenflo, Coke manager.

with a bunt. He advanced to second on a sacrifice hit bunt by Gee. A costly error by Cooler and another bunt-bingle by Tony Lucadello were responsible for the two Fostoria tallies racked up in this stanza.

More Bunts, More Runs

With this two-run lead to their advantage, which seemed to e quite enough to give the Screw Works a berth in the tourney finals, the Fostorians evidently wanted to have more fun with Cooler infielders and scored two more in the seventh frame. Speed merchant Rader was the boy who ignited this inning also. Again he was safe on a bunt. Gee followed with another bunt-single. Kimble was then safe on a fielder's choice which moved Rader around to third. An error by short fielder Milligan and Jones' outfield single completed the Screw Works' seventh.

The lone Cooler hit came in the last of the fifth when pitcher Bill Everly rapped a hard roller to second baseman Lucadello. Tony raced deep back of second, knocked down the ball but couldn't catch Everly.

LA BELL AND HART WIN TAG TEAM MAT FEATURE

Score Decisive Victory Over Jack Reeder and Dale Wayne.

Frankie Hart and Rene LaBell defeated a team composed of Jack Reeder and Dale Wayne in the featured tag team wrestling match at the Armory on West Church street last night.

Hart and LaBell, a pair of Canadians, won the opening fall, Reeder losing after 15 minutes of action with a body press and Wayne following two minutes later by the same means. The second fall was won by Reeder and Wayne, but the speedy Canadians captured the finale, winning both falls in 15 minutes.

Silent Pedro Gomez of Mexico City lost to Rufus Jones in straight falls in the one-hour semi-final scrap. The Mexican replaced Buck Lipscomb of Indianapolis, who was unable to take part in the event.

Wayne, a newcomer to the Marion ring, substituted for Ali Pasha, the Hindu, in the main-go match.

Green Camp Baseball Tourney To Get Under Way Sunday

Six teams will battle Sunday afternoon at the Green Camp High school ball field in the opening games of the Green Camp baseball tournament. Horsehiders from Agosta and the Marion Steam Shovel will meet in the opening contest scheduled to begin at 1 p. m.

In the other two games of the tourney "triple" header Sunday, Green Camp will face Claridon at 2:30 and Cardington will tangle with Richwood at 4 o'clock.

These are the tournament's only six entrants. In the second round games the following Sunday, the winners of this Sunday's games will meet the losers. However, this Sunday's victorious teams will not encounter the same opponents they defeated in the opening games. Second round opponents will be rotated.

The winner of the Green Camp-Claridon game will play the loser of the Agosta-Steam Shovel affair, the victor of the Cardington-Richwood tilt will meet the loser of the Green-Camp Claridon game, and the winner of the Agosta-Steam Shovel game will clash with the loser of the Cardington-Richwood contest on Sunday, Aug. 29.

Double Elimination Plan

The tournament is being run on a double elimination basis. Tourney play will continue each succeeding Sunday until only one squad remains which has gone down not more than once.

Cardington's team sports the top record of all tourney entrants with 10 triumphs and two losses. Green Camp, host club, is not far in the rear with 10 wins and three defeats. In Richwood, Cardington will face a young, zippy team which has broken even in all its contests this summer.

Steam Shovel, the only city team entering the tournament, has won a "bulk" of its engagements this season according to Green Camp men who are sponsoring the tournament. The Diggers will be favored to take the Agosta outfit which has not won a game since its organization a few weeks ago. The Agostians have lost three games, all to Green Camp. The scores were 15 to 2, 11 to 2, and 4 to 3. The last game, a tight battle, however, proved that the Agosta boys are on their way up the amateur baseball ladder.

Claridon Team New

Claridon's team was only recently organized and has not yet played a game. However, reports from the east-of-Marion community state that the Claridon team possesses about the same lineup which built up a 15 and 5 record last year.

Clifford Reichardt of Green Camp has been appointed umpire-in-chief for the tournament. He will be assisted by G. Hensel of Big Island township.

The Green Camp tourney was originated about two weeks ago and is under the direction of a group of Green Camp residents interested in seeing hardball flourish once more in Marion county. All six teams have paid $5 entry fees for the tournament.

The following men are managers of the various tournament teams and will pilot their charges to prospective tourney glory: Warren Crum of Cardington, Phillip Cheney of Richwood, Dick Price of Claridon, Don Wilson of the Steam Shovel, Homer Pierce of Agosta and Cliff Wasserbeck of Green Camp.

PT Boat Cut In Two by Jap Ship But Crew Lives

By LEIF ERICKSON,
Associated Press Writer

U. S. TORPEDO BOAT BASE, NEW GEORGIA, Aug. 8—(Delayed)—Out of the darkness, a Japanese destroyer appeared suddenly. It sliced diagonally in two the PT boat skippered by Lt. (JG) John F. Kennedy, son of the former American ambassador in London, Joseph P. Kennedy.

Crews of two other PT boats, patrolling close by, saw flaming high octane gasoline spread over the water. They gave up as certainly killed that black morning of Monday, Aug. 2, Skipper Kennedy and all his crew.

But Lieutenant Kennedy, 26, and 10 of his men were rescued today from a small coral island deep inside Japanese-controlled Solomons territory and within range of enemy shore guns.

I was aboard the PT boat making the rescue, a daring and skillful bit of navigation through reef-choked waters off Ferguson passage. (Ferguson passage is between Gizo and Wanawawa islands in the New Georgia group.)

Two men of Kennedy's crew were lost when the enemy destroyer rammed the boat at a speed estimated by the skipper at 40 knots.

Those who survived with Kennedy were Ens. Leonard Thom, Sandusky, O., executive officer and former Ohio State tackle; Ens. George Henry Robertson (Barney) Ross, Highland Park, Ill.; Machinist's Mate Patrick H. McMahon, 39, Los Angeles; Machinist's Mate Gerald E. Zinser, Belleville, Ill.; Gunner's Mate Charles Harris, Boston, Mass.; Radioman John Maguire, Hastings upon Hudson, N. Y.; Machinist's Mate William Johnston, Dorchester, Mass.; Ordnanceman Edmond Mowrer, St. Louis; Torpedoman Roy L. Starkey, Garden Grove, Calif., and Seaman First Class Raymond Albert, Cleveland.

On three nights, Lieutenant Kennedy, once a backstroke man on the Harvard swimming team, swam out into Ferguson passage hoping to flag down PT boats going through on patrol.

On the afternoon of the fourth day, two natives found the survivors and carried to the PT base a message Kennedy crudely cut on a green coconut husk.

Changing of Point Values Essential

Changes in ration point values whether they apply to gasoline, meats and fats, or canned goods are irritating but essential to the winning of the war on the "home front."

There are various reasons for these changes and the "good soldier" on the home front accepts them willingly without grumbling.

For example, the reason for the recent revision upward in ration points for butter is explained by the fact that the rationed demand for butter has been running about 5 per cent in excess of the amount allocated for civilian use. If this trend continued unchecked, supplies might shrink to an uncomfortably low level by the latter part of the July-August-September allocation quarter. Therefore, the point value for butter was raised to ten points August 1. The one point cut in the value of lard, shortening, salad and cooking oils and the unchanged point value of margarine was designed to raise sales of these items to a level more in line with the amounts allocated for civilian use this quarter, by the War Food Administration. Lard was set at 3 points per pound, while shortening and salad and cooking oils are set at 4 points per pound.

PLEA MADE TO AID SMALL REFINERIES

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 20 — L. E. Kincannon, independent oil company executive, told a petroleum administration for war panel yesterday "competition as it has been known in this country in the petroleum industry will not continue long unless crude oil is made available to the small refineries."

He appealed for higher crude oil prices which he said would encourage development of new fields and fuller production. "No company in business," he asserted, "wants competition between the smaller companies and the large companies to end."

The conference of oil firm representatives from Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, Minnesota and Kentucky was called by W. W. Vandever of Chicago, director of PAW District 2.

Robert Stith of the Stith Petroleum Co., Indianapolis, said in another brief that the directive limiting filling station operation to 72 hours a week enabled companies with more than one station in a community to stagger hours and operate 18 hours daily, while independent one-station firms could operate only 12 hours.

"This is going to destroy the independent marketer," Stith asserted.

GRAINS REMAIN IN NARROW RANGE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 20—Interest in grain pits was light today and the market fluctuated within narrow limits, showing no tendency to make a strong move in either direction.

A Kansas City report said the commodity credit corporation had made loans on 22,300,000 bushels of 1943 wheat up to Aug. 15, compared with 63,500,000 bushels on the same date last year. The comparatively small amount of wheat going into the loan was attributed to attractive open market prices.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT

Estate of Sarah J. Irvin, deceased.

Notice is hereby given that Iva Mae Bacon has been appointed and qualified as Executrix of the estate of Sarah J. Irvin late of Marion County, deceased. Dated at Marion, Ohio, this 12th day of August, A. D. 1943.

OSCAR GAST, Probate Judge Marion County, Ohio

Case No. 15420

LEGAL NOTICE

John Kruse who resides at 1065 South 52nd Street, West Allis, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, will take notice that on the 30th day of July, 1943, the plaintiff Alice L. Long, Administratrix with the Will Annexed of the Estate of Wilhelmina Kerr, deceased, filed her petition against him and others in the Court of Common Pleas of Marion County, Ohio, the same being cause number 27505 in said Court, for the sale of certain real property in said petition described, to-wit:

Being part of the north part of the east half of the southeast quarter of Section 21, Township 5, south of Range 15. Beginning at a stone, being the southeast corner of lands formerly owned by Arthur L. Clark, which beginning point being ascertained by commencing at the quarter post on the east line of said Section 21; thence west on the half section line of said Section 21, thirteen (13) rods and nine (9) links; thence south three (3) degrees east twelve (12) rods and 7.75 links; thence south 87 degrees west five (5) chains and 99 links to a stone; thence south 3 degrees east 53.5 links to a stake; thence north 87 degrees east 5 chains and 99.25 links to a stake; thence north 3 degrees west 53.5 links to the place of beginning containing one-half acre. Except from the foregoing the following described real estate: Being part of the north part of the east half of the southeast quarter of Section 21, Township 5, south of Range 15, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point 176 feet west of Oak Street on the south line of the first alley south of Silver street in the said City; thence west on said alley line 176 feet to a stone at the northwest corner of lands now being conveyed from Hamilton W. Kerr to James F. Prendergast; thence south on the line between Kerr and Harlow's land 59.11 to a stone at the northwest corner of D. Cusic's tract; thence east on Cusic's north line to a point 176 feet west of the west line of Oak Street; thence north parallel with the west line of Oak street to the place of beginning. Said tract herein described now known as Land No. 376 on the tax maps of the Auditor's office of said County.

The prayer of said petition is for the sale of said real property to pay the debts of plaintiff's decedent, for the reformation of the description of said real property and for other relief. Said defendant is required to answer said petition on or before the 17th day of September, 1943, or the prayer of said petition will be granted.

ALICE L. LONG, Administratrix with the Will Annexed of the Estate of Wilhelmina Kerr, deceased, Plaintiff.

Bernard C. Moloney, Her Attorney.

LEGAL NOTICE

In the Court of Common Pleas, Marion County, Ohio. Case No. 25502.

In the Matter of the Liquidation of The Peoples Building, Savings and Loan Company of Marion, Ohio.

To the Shareholders, Officers and Directors of, and to all persons, firms and corporations interested in the matter of the liquidation of The Peoples Building, Savings and Loan Company of Marion, Ohio:

You are hereby notified that on the 31st day of August, 1943, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., in the Common Pleas Court Room, at the Court House, in the City of Marion, County of Marion and State of Ohio, the Honorable Hector S. Young, as Judge of said Court, will hear the application of the Board of Directors of The Peoples Building, Savings and Loan Company of Marion, Ohio, now in liquidation, praying that its President and Secretary or Donithen & Michel, attorneys of Marion, Ohio, its attorneys of record, be authorized and directed to execute, enter upon, file and sign proper releases, cancellations and satisfactions of all judgments and interests of every kind in certain cases now pending and not completely adjudicated in the Court of Common Pleas of Marion County, Ohio and in the Municipal Court of the City of Marion, Ohio; and also to dismiss certain unadjudicated cases in the Municipal Court of Marion, Ohio, as set forth in said application, for the reason that all of the judgments rendered in said cases are now dormant or are unsatisfied by reason of the death, insolvency or uncollectability of the various defendants in said causes, and for the reason that there is no equity therein for the shareholders of the said The Peoples Building, Savings and Loan Company of Marion, Ohio, and to dismiss certain cases now pending in the Municipal Court of Marion, Ohio, in which cases it has been determined that the parties defendant are judgment and execution proof.

All parties interested in said hearing on said matter must appear on said date at said time and place and show cause why the relief applied for should not be granted, or be forever barred in the premises.

William J. Gorton
Alfred Donithen
George Frank
M. C. O'Brien
John Baldauf
Directors of The Peoples Building, Savings and Loan Company of Marion, Ohio.

STOCKS LOWER AND IRREGULAR

Some Specialties, Including Gold Mines, Show Gains on Basis of News.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 20—Aside from moderately firm specialties, including gold mines, stocks generally turned irregularly lower in today's market after a half-hearted recovery attempt at the opening.

Brokers saw little change in trend factors and the neutral zone still was well populated by customers inclined to await expected big military developments abroad. Earnings and dividends again were pivots for individual issues.

On the advancing side at one time or another were Twentieth Century-Fox and Kennecott. Minus marks were attached to U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Du Pont, Goodrich, American Telephone, American Can, United Aircraft, Pan American Airways, International Telephone and Union Carbide.

Putting life in the recently dormant gold stocks was the announcement of the treasury's revisions of proposals for post-war international currency stabilization whereby participating member countries would be required to put up as much as 50 per cent of their contributions in the yellow metal. The original draft called for only 12½ per cent.

Grid Broadcasts To Get Early 1943 Start

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 20—It appears that football broadcasting may get an earlier start on the networks this season than usual, despite war conditions.

An important share of the games is expected to feature service teams. NBC is starting Sept. 18, a week ahead of last year, with the contest between Great Lakes and Purdue from the naval training station north of Chicago.

Ted Husing, CBS sports expert, advises that his network expects to carry a schedule of 12 games, with the probable start also on Sept. 18.

The Fanny Brice-Frank Morgan show is listed to return to its NBC Thursday night schedule Sept. 2.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

"I'LL do that," [illegible] Adams assured him, and then [illegible] was moving [illegible] while I sipped my [illegible] Adams spoke [illegible].

"It won't be a [illegible] getting you [illegible]," he said. "[illegible] everything planned [illegible] split second. [illegible] all of Milner's [illegible] and your father [illegible] that [illegible] can't budge until I [illegible]. That leaves [illegible] clear for me to get you up to your suite. But [illegible] the telephone. I'll [illegible] to get you."

The Call Comes

"On [illegible]," I assented, and he [illegible] the attendant and paid him for the beverages. Then we waited for a time that seemed endless, but which really was but a few minutes before the attendant came back to our table.

"Is your name Adams?" he asked, and Adams rose even before the man answered his nod of assent.

"Telephone for you at the second booth," he said, and Adams paused only for an admonition to me. "Stay here till I come back, but be ready to go then."

I nodded in agreement, then waited tensely until I saw him coming toward me, when I rose and hurried to him. He put his hand beneath my elbow, and escorted me to the door.

It was less than five minutes before we drew up at the entrance of [illegible] hotel, and [illegible] cold basement.

Through the Basement

Adams [illegible] the basement [illegible] to the [illegible].

"[illegible] a signal for Mrs. Graham [illegible] the elevator [illegible] then go back [illegible] you."

"Okay," the man [illegible] and there was a signal. Adams [illegible] at the [illegible]. A maid was the only occupant of the floor, and Adams [illegible] her into the 'Exit' alcove [illegible] which the staircase went up [illegible] door.

"She's one of our [illegible]," he whispered to me, and when the maid had come up to him, he said in a low voice: "Remember, you haven't seen the lady, Mrs. Graham, [illegible]."

"I'll remember," she said briefly.

Sends Maid Ahead

"Now go down stairs ahead of us," he said, "and see if the next hall is clear. If the maids is there, go over and get her around the corner on some pretext while I get Mrs. Graham into her own suite."

The maid turned and went quickly down the stairs and out of sight. In a moment she reappeared.

"All clear," she reported, and Adams guided me swiftly around to my own door, where I gave my own signaling knock.

Katharine opened it, and Adams, waiting only until I was safely inside, hurried away to obey my father's order about appearing at Milner's office.

"Am I glad to see you!" my kinswoman exclaimed. "Milner's been telephoning every quarter hour to see if you've awakened. I finally asked him not to telephone again, promising that I would have you telephone him when you wakened. What do you think about doing it now?"

"Nobody is to do anything until Father comes up," I answered. "He will be here presently. Where's Dicky?"

"In the connecting suite," she replied. "He asked me to tell him when you arrived, but I think I'll get your hat and coat off first, and put you—where? In a chair? On the couch? You look all in."

"I'm perfectly all right," I assured her. "But I shall be glad to relax in a big chair. No, I distinctly do not wish to lie down."

"That's up to you," of course," she said, installing me in the most comfortable chair in the room. "I suppose there's no use asking you anything now."

"Not until Father comes," I said. "He hasn't any idea what happened, except that everything went all right."

"That's enough to sustain life on," she said with a smile. "And, now, I'll call Dicky."

YOUR HEALTH

• • •

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Overeating

[illegible] fortitude is the [illegible] that can lead to [illegible] understanding. I am not [illegible] with the general [illegible] relates mental to [illegible]. I have known several [illegible] with "good health" [illegible] of their [illegible] Saturday's lives.

[illegible] intestinal fortitude. Lots of people have intestines [illegible] away but come back to [illegible] that day. I am speaking of the people who euphemistically in the most polite circles are referred to as having irritable colon.

[illegible] simply means that [illegible] are not made of iron, [illegible] flesh and blood. It means [illegible] colons shy off a little [illegible] put through the routine of [illegible] the visiting fireman the town Saturday night. The visiting fireman has no irritable colon—where his large intestine ought to be is something in between a Flying Fortress and Festung Europe.

Saturday night they start at Good Charley's, eat a shovelful of those sandwiches made of hard-boiled eggs, and the other kind made of tough, rolled-up fish, then go on to good roaring dinner at the Kansas City Steak Joint and after visiting a few hot spots wind up at the Dirty Spoon for a few waffles, doughnuts, wheat cakes and coffee.

Instead of jeering at the fellow with an irritable colon after a night like that, you ought to compliment his colon on showing great common sense in getting rid of the dregs of the evening's debauch.

The treatment of the irritable-colon patient, then, is fairly simple. First is psychological. He must get it through his dome he is not a visiting fireman type. It sometimes takes a long time to do this. The other part of the treatment is dietary. Eat the things that are simple to digest and do not subject your digestive system to a test of strength with Nature's most durable foods.

A simple "smooth" diet for these people is:

Beverages: Coffee, cream, malted milk.

Bread and Cereals: White bread; crackers; white rice; spaghetti; noodles; macaroni; cream of wheat, (exclude whole wheat products, bran or other forms of cellulose).

Vegetables: Mashed potatoes; puree of peas; beans; asparagus, beets, carrots.

Fruits: Ripe bananas; strained orange juice; strained tomato juice.

Desserts: Custard; gelatin, rice pudding, cornstarch pudding, sponge cake, angel food cake, blancmange.

Sources of Protein: Cottage cheese, American cheese; cream cheese; eggs, chicken (white meat), fish, scraped beef, cream soups.

Other Foods: Salt; butter; olive oil.

The Stars Say—

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, Aug. 21

WHILE THERE are conflicting configurations in this day's lunar aspect, yet there are excellent opportunities for success, happiness and many private satisfactions. The chief joy may be found in heart interests, social or artistic achievements or recognition, or other creative expression attracting attention of sudden and surprising force. However, there is a proclivity to undue extravagance, excess or turbulent demonstration of temper which might negate the fullest measure of gratification and enjoyment.

Those whose birthday it is have excellent promise for success and happiness, with a surprising opportunity for a lucrative and uncommon expression of creative art or scientific invention. However there are hints of some public or group lack of endorsement or cooperation, which a display of temper would but aggravate. Refrain from all sorts of excess and extravagance in word and deed. Romantic, social, domestic and affectional associations should culminate happily. Artistic or literary efforts are encouraged.

A child born on this day may have artistic or literary talents of real worth, being original and uncommon. It may also be musical. An inclination to impetuosity, extravagance and excesses should be given early discipline.
